Truck Wrecks Coupe, 2 In 'Miracle' Escape

In what Richland County Sheriff Frank E. Robinson called a "miraculous escape," two southern Ohio motorists received only slight cuts and bruises yesterday when their coupe was flattened against a utility pole by a large trailer-truck on U. S. Route 42 near Orchard park. To the left of the picture at the top may be seen the splintered pole, levelled by the impact. The truck narrowly missed hitting the home of G. F. Farst, Orchard park. The photo below is a close-up of the coupe, showing how the rear end was demolished by the truck. Both Orlan Benner, 35, and Ora Adams, 26, of Peebles, received only cuts and bruises about the head and arm.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE DEATH

Lutz Orders Investigation of Killing of Young Mother By Car Climbing Curb.

A Richland county grand jury investigation into the death of Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Springer, 25, Mansfield mother, who was killed Saturday night when an auto swerved onto a sidewalk after a collision, was ordered today by Prosecutor Harold Lutz.

Prosecutor Lutz announced that there was "sufficient evidence" to warrant a jury investigation into Mrs. Springer's death. Date for hearing was not set but Lutz said it would probably be held in August.

The prosecutor made his announcement after questioning several witnesses to the tragedy and evidence gathered by Mansfield police. Police Chief Meade K. Bates formerly promised "definite action" saying that "someone was to blame."

Mrs. Springer was killed when an auto operated by Charles McKinney, 215 Miller street, mounted the northwest curb at the intersection of North Adams and East Fourth streets after colliding with another car driven by R. R. Rinehart, Mansfield R. D. 3. Also struck were her two children, Robert, 5, and Ruth Ann, 4, who are still in General hospital.

Meanwhile two Richland county youths, thrown more than 70 feet early yesterday when their car plunged 219 feet through a corn field near Johnsville, were still unconscious at General hospital today 35 hours after the crash.

No Time for Us to Complain, Judge Says at Dedication

"With the nation threatened by the forces in Europe, this is no time for us to complain about longer working hours, higher taxes, or having to go without our cars on Sunday to conserve gasoline," Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston said last night in a talk at dedication ceremonies for the new courthouse flag pole.

The ceremonies, which attracted about 300 persons, were in charge of the Earle McVey post of the American Legion. The program was held at the base of the pole at the northwest corner of the courthouse lawn.

"Indifference of the American people to the world problems and foes within our own borders is our greatest enemy today," Judge Huston asserted. "We ought to rededicate ourselves to the cause of liberty and to protecting America.

"We need to close our mouths and open our minds. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves for complaining about increasing taxes when our boys quit good jobs to go to the army for $21 a month. How are they going to pay taxes with that kind of salary?"

The first World war was a success for the United States because it preserved our democracy and averted for more than 20 years the conflict that is now going on in Europe, Judge Huston added.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, gave a brief talk, presenting the pole to the county. Earl Saltzgaber, commander of the McVey Post, American Legion, presided during the ceremonies. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain of the Legion post, gave the invocation.

Pot and Pan Drive Here Extended to Entire Week

Old Aluminum to Be Collected By Wards, Then Taken to Central Park; Celebration to Close Campaign.

Converting a two-day national collection plan into a full week's drive "to insure greater coverage," Mansfield's special committee for the collection of old aluminum pots and pans for national defense purposes yesterday mapped a program "intended to salvage the greatest amount of aluminum possible."

The pots and pans will be collected from the various wards of the city for six days starting Monday, July 21, and ending with a citizens' celebration the following Saturday around the aluminum piled up in Central park.

James F. Carrigan, city chairman, announced today that collections would be made in the First ward on July 14, the Second ward on July 15, and in other wards on the days succeeding. Residents will be asked to place all the aluminum they have collected in front of their homes on the appointed day.

City, county and township trucks as well as those donated by the Volunteers of America will collect the aluminum and transport it to Central park where it will be stored in a huge aluminum

NAMES DONOVAN

FDR Selects Co-ordinator of Defense Information.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt today appointed William J. Donovan co-ordinator of information bearing on the defense program.

Donovan, who led the famous "Fighting 69th" during the World war, is to "collect and assemble information and data bearing on national security" from various government agencies and analyze the material for official governmental use.

While it had been predicted that Donovan would head a super agency to combat espionage, an official White House announcement gave no definite support to that idea.

NEWCOMERSTOWN —(U.P.)— The National Labor Relation board will conduct a hearing next Wednesday on union jurisdictional issues in a strike which has closed the Heller File and Tool plant since Sunday.

WHEELER BACKS TAFT CLAIM OF IRELAND BASE

KNOX QUESTIONED TODAY

George Hits Sending of U. S. Troops To More Points Outside Hemisphere.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt declared today he would not be surprised if American steel had gone into 50 British bases and if American workmen all over the world were being paid by the British government. This, he said, is perfectly legal.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) renewed his verbal pounding at administration defense policy today, charging that cargoes of materials already had been sent to northern Ireland and Scotland for the construction of United States naval bases there.

Wheeler thus trumped the assertion made by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) yesterday that the United States was engaged in constructing air bases in both countries, but for the use of Great Britain.

At the same time, Senator George (D., Ga.), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, announced he was opposed to dispatching American armed forces to any additional points outside the western hemisphere. He said he doubted reasons existed to justify further action in this regard.

With the question of additional Atlantic bases suddenly to the fore, members of the senate naval committee decided to ask Secretary of Navy Knox for information on the subject. Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, also was asked to appear.

The committee convened to inquire into reports that shooting has occurred in the past during encounters between vessels of the U. S. Atlantic patrol and German naval units.

Knox has emphatically denied at his press conference all previ-

Congress to Review Nation's Military Strength.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Uncle Sam's military might will be demonstrated for members of congress.

General G. C. Marshall, chief of staff, is arranging the event at the request of Rep. Thom (D-Ohio) who suggested that it would be an answer to those who doubt the army's strength.

Thom wrote to General Marshall that members of congress would like an opportunity to see the fighting forces in action at a camp near Washington. "The war department," the general replied, "is in the process of arranging a demonstration of army equipment such as you suggest. You and the other members of congress will be advised of the time and place as soon as arrangements are completed."

HOSPITAL AND CHURCH AIDED

Rigby Will Sets Up $5,000 Trust Funds For Each One; Family Shares Balance.

Trust and savings funds of $5,000 each to benefit General hospital and the Park Avenue Baptist church had been set up today under the will of the late James A. Rigby, president of the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company and Mansfield business leader, who died June 25.

Bulk of the estate will go to the widow, Mrs. Mary B. Rigby; a son, Henry B. Rigby of Detroit, and a daughter, Mrs. Hortense R. Tucker of Shreveport, La.

The estate was estimated at $100,000, all in personal property, but it was believed the appraisement will show considerably more than that.

As trustee of the hospital and church funds, the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company will make payments to the institutionss from the earnings of the funds.

The hospital bequest was established as a savings fund with the bank instructed to make semi-annual payments to the hospital for operating expenses.

The will provides that $5,000 shall be held by the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company for debts owed the bank by the church and for the benefit of the church.

Mr. Rigby's jewelry was divided between the widow and son, while the household goods, automobiles and farm equipment were left to the widow.

One half of the residue of the estate will be turned over to the executors for the benefit of Mrs. Rigby, while the remaining half will be divided equally between the son and daughter.

The Citizens' National Bank and Trust company and Mr. Rigby's son were suggested as executors and Charles W. Fuchs, E. R. Hartman, and Robert B. Black as appraisers of the estate.

Dub Admiral King Toughest Among Navy's Top Men

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Back in 1901 when handsome, very serious Ernie King of Lorain, Ohio, was graduated from the Naval Academy, his Lucky Bag recording was:

"Temper? Don't fool with nitroglycerin."

Now rated the toughest sea dog among the navy's high ranking officers, 62-year-old Admiral Ernest J. King commands the United States forces which guard the Atlantic all the way to Iceland.

The tall, sinewy leather-faced King is no "apple polisher" for navy brass hats. His assignment to the critical defense outpost caps a career of outstanding command performance, particularly in the aircraft and submarine services.

Qualifying as a naval aviator at the age of 48 and holding a succession of air commands, he is said to have done more in perfecting the tactical value of aircraft

Navy Also Places Sub Net In San Francisco Harbor.

SAN FRANCISCO —(U.P.)— The navy department revealed today that it had laid a mine field at the entrance to San Francisco bay and had placed a submarine net inside the bay just west of Alcatraz Island.

Navy authorities declined to amplify the brief warning to mariners to "stay well clear" of the areas, but when questioned a week ago after the reported mine laying, declared they were "practice" implements.

The mine field lies 3½ miles southwest of Mile Rock lighthouse, just outside the Golden Gate.

Russians Assert Nazis No Longer Making Attacks

Berlin Says Roads Clogged With Mass Of Abandoned Equipment But Claims No Gains for Fourth Straight Day; RAF Bombs Naples.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—Russian dead and captured were estimated today by DNB, official German news agency, at 1,000,000 men but the agency conceded that the German eastward drive from the Bialystok-Minsk area had come to a standstill in many places.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies driving eastward into Russia from the Bialystok-Minsk sector have come to a standstill in several places, the official German news agency conceded today, while a Soviet communique implied that the 20-day-old Nazi blitzkrieg has been stopped cold.

At the same time, reliable sources in London said that a mighty new German offensive to crush the Red armies was now under way. On its success or failure, observers said, may depend the outcome of the Russo-German war.

DNB, the Nazi news agency, attributed the halt to the necessity of clearing roads littered with the wreckage of Red army machines.

According to previous reports from Vichy military circles, the German juggernaut has been virtually stalled for more than a week now, in sharp contrast to its hurricane sweep through the lowlands of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg into France last summer.

DNB asserted that the halt was a brief one, and declared that roads impeding the German advance were clogged with "a mass of abandoned, shot-to-pieces and burned out tanks and vehicles."

"Part of immense amounts of war materials had to be shoved aside to blaze a trail for the German troops," DNB said.

For the fourth straight day, Hitler's high command made no claims to new gains on the 2,000-mile front stretching from the arctic shores to the Black sea.

The Russians indicated that the sting had been taken out of the Nazi blitz and that German legions were no longer attacking.

"Nothing particular occurred on the fronts during last night," a Soviet war bulletin said.

Red warplanes were declared to have shot 69 German planes out of the sky, or destroyed them on the ground, compared with a loss of nine Soviet aircraft.

(By Associated Press)

VICHY, Unoccupied France—Advices from Syria reported heavy fighting going on in the French mandate today while the French government studied British armistice terms received at 11 p. m. last night.

Informed quarters said the French reply would be delivered as quickly as possible, and that the British proposals were sent at once to the French high commissioner in Syria, Gen. Henri Dentz, who had requested the cessation of hostilities.

A heavy British attack on the French lines south of Beirut was said to have been launched yesterday at 3 p. m. and the latest

Waitress Calls For Room Service And Gets Surprise

TOLEDO—(U.P.)— A 23-year-old waitress who woke up in a strange room and telephoned for room service really obtained service.

The trouble started yesterday when she called from a men's dormitory at the University of Toledo and the person at the other end of the line was Dean of Men, R. L. Carter.

She asked for a key to open the door of the room. Carter summoned police and they released the young woman from the room and into the custody of a police matron.

The waitress said the reason for her presence in the men's dormitory was that she went on a drinking party with two young men, one a university student, and her companions took her to the dormitory room to "sleep it off."

She was released into custody of her parents.

Drive Brings Results, Horn-Blowers Thinking Twice Before Pressing Button, Poll Discloses

Mansfield motorists are already applying a voluntary check on themselves in the matter of futile and useless horn-blowing.

Downtown business people say so. The police say so. Residents along the city's main residential thoroughfares say so.

Even the motorists themselves say so!

And everybody's reaction is about like this:

"Peace, it's wonderful!"

The downtown business section is at least 75 per cent quieter than it was a week ago, when drivers thoughtlessly blasted away whenever they got impatient at traffic delays.

At least, that is the impression of downtown business workers —store proprietors, doctors, lawyers, clerks, stenographers and what have you.

Police also confirmed the impression of workers that motorists haven't been "beeping" so much lately.

"It just goes to show that a lot of horn-blowing was thoughtlessness," commented Police Chief Meade K. Bates today, "of course, drivers know they don't speed things up any by blowing their horns in periods of traffic congestion, but they get impatient and sound their horns without thinking. Now that the nuisance has been called to their attention, they are laying off the horn button."

Dozens of drivers who wouldn't classify themselves as among the "impatient horn-blowers" admit that since agitation began for less tooting that they've deliberately tried to avoid even casual use of their horns.

However, tomorrow's Saturday, and the efficacy of any voluntary restriction on horn-blowing by drivers themselves will get a real test then, when the week's heaviest traffic will travel over downtown streets.

GERMANS ADMIT ARMY'S STOPPED ON RED FRONT

Berlin Fails to Claim Advances For Fourth Straight Day; RAF Bombs Naples.

ing the conclusion of that conflict with the capture of 328,000 Red army troops, 3,332 tanks, 1,809 guns and an enormous quantity of supplies.

The Germans implied that the mass of Nazi tanks and infantry engaged in the Bialystok mop-up now would be turned into a juggernaut smash against the Stalin line.

Hitler's high command described the action, in which two Soviet armies were trapped, as "the greatest materiel and envelopment battle in the history of the world."

An assertion by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) that the United States was constructing military bases in northern Ireland and Scotland prompted this comment by the British foreign office:

"Some technicians and laborers from the United States are engaged in connection with certain works that are proceeding in northern Ireland."

The foreign office declared, however, that all were "direct employes of the British government."

In the war in the air, RAF bombers raked the city of Naples, Italy, for the second night in a row. The Italian high command reported "much damage to civilian dwellings," with five persons killed and 20 wounded in a three-hour raid.

In the west, other RAF raiders smashed at Cologne, in the German Rhineland, and attacked Ostend, Calais and Boulogne on the Nazi-occupied channel coast.

Bitter fighting still raged in the Middle East war theater even as the Vichy French government studied British armistice terms received at 11 p. m. last night. London quarters said the British reply to the French request for peace terms had been delayed by communication difficulties.

An informed British source said British terms were based on a 10-point statement, assuring the French that Britain has no territorial demands on Syria or Lebanon and calling for an "option" for Vichy French officers and troops to return to France or join Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French army.

Dispatches from Ankara, Turkey, said German air transports had landed Vichy reinforcements in Aleppo, Syria, in an attempt to prolong French resistance.

In the 20-day-old Nazi invasion of the U. S. S. R. the Russian high command reported 350 Finns were killed in a clash on the northern front, presumably on the Karelian isthmus.

The Red airforce was reported by Moscow to be blasting at northern and southern wings of the front where some sparks of blitzkrieg continued. In the Ostrov region to the north Russian aviation was said to be smashing German motor and tank detachments seeking a break-through to Leningrad. Red army aviators were pictured as engaged too, in attacking German spearheads striking through the Novograd Volynski sector, with Kiev Ukrainian capital, as their objective.

On the road to Moscow the Russians said they had smashed two German divisions, destroying more than 80 tanks, killing more than 3,500 Germans and taking another 2,400 prisoner.

Guerrilla activity behind the German lines was meeting with success, the Russians said.

The Nazi high command said prisoners already taken approached a half-million and that the Russians had lost 6,233 warplanes 7,615 tanks and 4,423 guns.

In the west Great Britain continued her aerial offensive striking at Germany's Rhineland and northern France during the night while Nazi fliers pounced on England's northeast coast.

Report Reich Cities Being Evacuated

LONDON —(AP)— Increasingly severe British bombings of German industrial centers and occupied zones by day and night was reported today to have resulted in evacuation of large numbers of women and children from Cologne, Dusseldorf, Munster and other Nazi war factory centers.

Bombings Render Towns 'Unusable'

ZURICH, Switzerland —(AP)— Repeated Red air force bombings have rendered Galatz (Galati) on the Danubian delta in Rumania, and Constanta, on the Black Sea, "unuseable" messages from Budapest said today.

(Russia previously reported that Constanta, used as a German base, had "ceased to exist.")

British Bomb Naples For Second Night

ROME —(AP)— British planes bombed Naples last night, the second night in a row, the Italian high command announced, and caused "much damage to civilian dwellings."

Five persons were reported killed and 20 injured in the raid, which lasted nearly three hours.

Shortly after the bombardment Crown Princess Marie Jose visited those injured in the raid. She paid a similar visit to the hospitals yesterday morning.

"dump" at the western entrance near the flag pole.

Carrigan said that a snow fence will be erected around the dump and that Legionnaires or Boy Scouts will be stationed there as guards.

Plans for the campaign were furthered yesterday at a meeting in the Municipal building. Governmental orders arrived just five minutes before 4 p. m., time set for the meeting.

Carrigan said that the committee's organization coincided with the plans of the government. Another meeting which will be attended by all 40 members of the various committees will be held Monday at 4:15 p. m. at the Legion home.

Admission to three Mansfield theaters will be granted to persons bringing aluminum pieces, according to Carrigan. Arrangements have been made for "free" shows at the Madison, Park and Ritz theaters. Carrigan said that arrangements were also being made to have admission granted to one of the home games of the Mansfield Braves for aluminum pieces.

The collection campaign will wind up on Saturday, July 26, with a big celebration at Central park, according to Carrigan. Arrangements are being made to have the Legion Drum corps and the Mansfield high school band furnish music for the occasion.

Aluminum collected in Mansfield and Richland county will all be gathered at Central park. Carrigan said Junk dealers, who will donate their services as all others in the drive, will sort aluminum from other metals and bale it.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE DEATH

Lutz Orders Investigation of Killing of Young Mother By Car Climbing Curb.

The conditions of Claude Patterson, 21, of 160 West Third street and Everett Memuller 26, Lexington R D 2 both in General hospital with possible fractured skulls and internal injuries were described as "poor today."

Neither youth has regained consciousness since 3:30 a. m. yesterday when their auto left Route 42 a half mile north of Johnsville and tossed them more than 70 feet through the air. Kenneth Prosser, 23, Lexington R D 2 who suffered only severe scalp lacerations and multipule bruises in the same accident, was said to be in "fair" condition today.

In another accident late yesterday two men miraculously escaped serious injury when their auto was demolished in a crash on U. S. Route 42 near Orchard park.

Orlan Benner, 35, and Ora Adams, 26, both of Peebles, Adams county, were thrown from the car when a trailer-truck struck its rear and flattened it against a utility pole.

The Peebles men told Sheriff Frank E Robinson that they had been parked when the accident occurred. C. E. Wilson, Pickerington, driver of the truck, said they were starting to pull into the center of the road.

Wilson's truck struck the rear of the auto driving it against the pole with such force that the pole was broken. Following the crash, the truck swerved toward the right, narrowly missing the home of G. F. Farst, Orchard park.

Benner and Adams were treated by a Lexington doctor. Wilson was not injured. The truck was not badly damaged, but the rear of the auto was completely demolished.

In a series of mid-week traffic accidents throughout the state, at least nine persons were killed.

Three Lakewood residents lost their lives in an auto-train collision at Washington Court House as they were returning home from Camp Shelby, Miss.

The victims were Bertram S. Almy, 33, beginning a furlough from the 145th Infantry; his fiancee, Miss Martha Rice, and Miss Elizabeth B. Martin, about 28. Miss Martin died in a Columbus hospital the others were killed outright.

A mother and son—Mrs. Clarence Downey, 43, and Billy Lee 15.—were killed near Findlay as their car skidded off the road in a rainstorm and struck a concrete post. Clarence Downey, the husband and father, was injured seriously.

Charles Gardner told Coroner J. A Mooney that he heard a bump against his car and found his four-year-old niece, Mariam Virginia Mielke, dead in a lane on the farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mielke, near Dunkirk.

Angelo Minardi, 6, was killed in a truck-automobile collision in a Cleveland suburb.

Joey Minardi, Angelo's twin brother, died today from injuries suffered in the crash.

In Akron, Arthur E Rose, 38, president of the Rose Rubber Co., of Indianapolis, died of injuries received Monday when his automobile struck a culvert in Wayne county.

to the fleet than any other man in the navy. He has stressed the use of the navy's air force as a powerful offensive—rather than defensive—weapon of the fleet.

Prior to his aeronautical service, brilliant supervision of the salvage of the sunken submarines S-51 and S-4 won him the Distinguished Service medal with Gold Star.

Old Eagle-Eye Ernie, as they call him in the navy, drives his men and himself at a hard pace. Many a junior officer has cussed him as an "unreasonable, hard-bitten, son of a sea cook." Most of them admit, however, he would be a handy man to have around if trouble were brewing. A high ranking officer, who has had considerable service with him, says: "King's a pleasant gentleman ashore but a tough hombre at sea. Determined and a very quick thinker in an emergency, he has what it takes to command a fleet in wartime."

As commander of the patrol force (the Atlantic fleet) he directs the operations of 180 warships. The exact makeup of the Atlantic fleet is now a strictly confidential matter. Some time ago it comprised three old battleships, a few cruisers, many destroyers and speedboats and some long-range bombing planes together with other aircraft.

Admiral King saw service in eastern Atlantic waters during the World war when he was assistant chief of staff for Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet. For that service he was awarded the coveted Navy Cross.

Six feet 2 inches tall, fairly broad-shouldered and slim waisted, King is an imposing figure in full naval dress and a breast load of decorations. He is the father of six girls and one boy. Dancing with one of his daughters, he appears as sprightly as a young ensign. He likes golf but is fussy about the most minor rules of the game.

ous "shooting" reports, and there have been no official announcements of naval casualties due to hostile action since the inauguration of the Atlantic patrol.

Wheeler, who forecast American occupation of Iceland, declined to say where he had received the report regarding new transatlantic bases.

"I received advices some time ago," he told reporters, "that the administration is planning the construction of American naval bases not only in northern Ireland, but in Scotland, and that materials and supplies for the work already have been shipped over.

"I do not know whether construction actually has started."

Taft, during his speech in the senate yesterday, said his information was that the United States already was constructing air bases there for Great Britain and Senator Danaher (R., Conn.) joined in with the statement that "American workmen by the hundreds have been constructing a naval base in northern Ireland for weeks just as they were preliminary to the Iceland situation."

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, replied that he had no information of such developments.

Neither Taft nor Danaher amplified on this point.

U. S. Technicians at Work In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—(AP)—Technicians and workers from the United States are engaged on a construction project of an undisclosed nature in northern Ireland.

(In London the foreign office said these Americans were "direct employes of the British government" and asserted that reports that the United States is establishing an air base in northern Ireland "are not borne out by information available in London.")

People of northern Ireland, which is sharing in Britain's war against Germany, have given many evidences of the popularity of the Americans.

Bands are buying copies of "The Star Spangled Banner" to play in their honor. The Americans spend their money freely and some are said to have handed out pound notes for tips, mistaking them for dollar bills.

The United States contingent celebrated the Fourth of July by going to Dublin, the capital of neutral Eire.

Establishment of United States bases in this part of Britain "may be nearer than is realized" the Northern Whig and Belfast Post said today in an editorial.

Apparently referring to comment in the United States on the prospect of naval and air bases, the Belfast newspaper said, "it is unfortunate that such premature revelations, whether true or not, should be made across the Atlantic."

DRIVE AGAINST HORN-BLOWING BRINGS RESULTS

Motorists Thinking Twice Before Pressing Button, Poll Discloses.

Here are some opinions of Mansfield business people who have found that the anti-noise campaign in the downtown area has already brought results:

Mrs. Mildred Davis, Mansfield Telephone company, Park avenue west—"I have noticed that the street noise has diminished since the campaign started to eliminate it. I'm in favor of the campaign and passage of the ordinance."

Dr. John S. Hattery, Park avenue west—"It's still bad enough. The cars congregate on the corner and then somebody starts to blow. I don't think the blowing is done so much by local people but by out-of-town drivers. It might be a good plan to put up a sign outside the city explaining horn regulations as an aid to visiting motorists.

Clarence Luft, Vercoe and company, Park avenue west—"I have noticed a marked decrease in traffic noise the past few days. There has been too much horn-blowing in Mansfield. Except for around the Ohio State campus in Columbus, I never heard anything like it."

Mrs. Bernice Myers, Mansfield-Leland hotel coffee shop cashier, Park avenue west—"The noise has been reduced in the past few days. Many people coming in here have remarked about how much quieter it is since the campaign was started."

Pete Disanze, proprietor of Greystone night club, Fourth and Walnut streets—"Oh, sure, there has been a lot less noise. I've noticed it for the last two or three days now. Haven't heard nearly as many horns."

Charles L. Kater, florist, 41 North Mulberry street—"The anti-horn tooting campaign is the talk of the town. The decrease in noise outside the shop is very noticeable. Several of my friends are already trying the 500-mile drive without blowing their horns."

Aaron J. Goldsmith, clothier, 54 North Main street—"I can see a decided improvement already, and I'm very much in favor of an ordinance to reduce the noise."

Edward Burghard, proprietor of the Hofbrau, 14 West Fourth street—"I've scarcely heard a horn after midnight for the past two or three nights. The campaign has made a big difference."

Dr. W. E. Wygant, 28 Park avenue west—"I haven't paid much attention to the traffic, but I find the noise is worse between 7 and 8 in the evening when the kids get downtown and start raising the dickens. I'm absolutely in favor of the campaign and would endorse an ordinance."

Workers Still Seek Two Bodies In Wrecked Diggings.

LEEDS, Ala.—(U.P.)—The death toll from an explosion in the Acmar No. 6 coal mine of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company last night, was placed at 11 today as workers sought two bodies in the wrecked diggings.

Seven bodies were brought out before midnight. The explosion was caused by gas and occurred at 9:30 p. m. (EST) soon after the shift of nine negroes and two whites had gone to No. 8 heading. The bodies were burned and the men apparently died instantly.

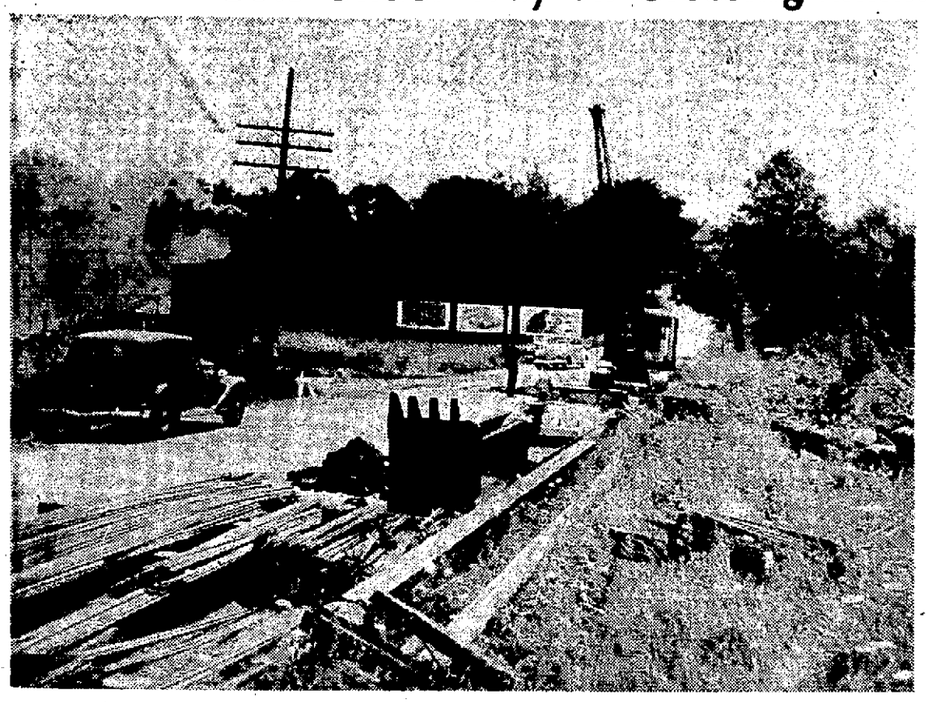
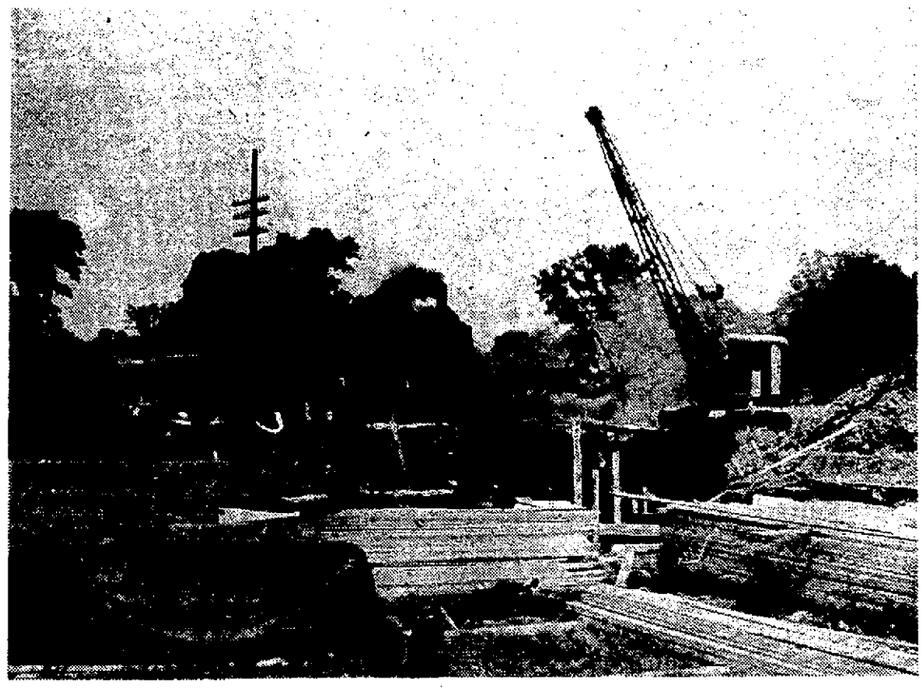
As Work Gets Under Way on Crossing Elimination Project on U. S. Route 30-N West of City





Thirty days later than the original starting date for work was getting under way slowly today on the elimination of two grade crossings on U. S. Route 30-N in and near Mansfield. Top left, the only two large pieces of equipment on the job at present, are used in the building of structures for what will be an overhead crossing above the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks on West Fourth street. Top right, another picture of the same two pieces of equipment with the foundation for the overhead in the foreground. Below is a picture of the Erie railroad crossing, a mile and a half further west, where an underpass is to be built within the next 17 months. No machinery has been moved there yet. The $500,000 grade elimination project is being carried out by the Lombardo Construction company of Cleveland.

PUPILS GIVEN DEFENSE JOBS

Big Increase Seen in County In Number of Work Permits Issued Youths.

The growing demand for labor in defense industries and on the farm is reflected in the huge increase this year in work permits issued to pupils in Richland county high schools, H. J. Sir Louis, county attendance officer, said today.

Sir Louis has written permits for 108 pupils as compared to only 32 during the 1939-40 school term. Thirty-six of the permits were for full-time jobs and 72 for part-time vacation jobs.

Pupils had difficulty finding jobs during vacation two or three years ago, but there is a big demand now for pupils with special training, the attendance officer said. A number of the permits issued in recent weeks went to youths who will be employed on NYA projects.

Permits must be obtained by all pupils from 16 to 18 years old who work for any employers other than their parents.

PUEBLO, Colo.—(AP)—"My dog had pups," explained Bob Barnard as he passed the wieners around to friends, just like new fathers do with cigars.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1941.

Odd as it may seem for Iceland, American troops were given a warm reception.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world—including those who think that a four-tone auto horn is musical.

The theory that "heat is largely a state of mind" takes place with the "Don't worry" advice in its impracticability.

Production for Normal Needs

READJUSTMENTS that are being hurriedly made to key industrial production to defense needs have had a tendency to at least temporarily unbalance normal manufacturing and distribution functions—a condition that could easily produce serious hardships if permitted to go on.

While production of defense materials of all kinds must continue to be accorded top place, there is every reason to believe that the resources of this country are sufficient, if intelligently co-ordinated, to meet the needs of comfortable modern living as well as to carry through the gigantic national defense and aid program.

In a recent address to the American Marketing association, Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company, and also president of the National Association of Manufacturers, scouted the idea that normal sales, promotional, manufacturing and distribution functions need be abandoned because of defense requirements.

Civilian needs of millions of people in this country will continue for the immediate future at least, to be much as they have been in the recent past, and Mr. Fuller pointed out that American initiative, resourcefulness and capacity will make it possible to expand production of raw materials and finished merchandise to the extent necessary to meet this demand.

Along this same line, Leon D. Henderson, federal price administrator, said to a congressional committee: "We are in danger of setting our sights too low on what we can produce for civilian life without the slightest interference with defense needs."

A goal toward which government, industrial management and the American people may well strive is the quickest possible restoration of ample production to meet reasonable civilian requirements, in addition to speeding up the output of defense materials.

Co-operation for Mutual Benefit

THE Mexican government wants the Mexican people to understand what hemispheric defense is all about and why close co-operation with the United States and other American nations has been undertaken. It has ordered that special teaching in democracy be given to the 2,000,000 school children of Mexico. A pamphlet has been prepared and distributed to school directors and inspectors to help them with this job.

"The ministry of public education," says an introduction to the pamphlet, "requests its collaborators to second with faith and enthusiasm the government which has taken the only attitude compatible with our historic antecedents and with our loyally democratic principles.

"Mexico has done no more than add itself to the other republics of the American continent in whom breathes the same love of liberty, of justice and of respect for the independence and sovereignty of the nations which form the Western Hemisphere."

In that last sentence is expressed one of the chief differences between the New Order in Europe and the new neighborliness of all America. The Axis obtains continental unity by setting up a master nation in control of slave nations. In the New World free governments seek only the unity of mutual welfare and co-operation based on respect for each other's independence and the sovereignty of the smallest and weakest nations as well as the most powerful.

Speed On the Highways

AN EXPERIENCE of a Mansfield motorist, as he relates it, gives an idea of how driving speed can be attained without intention—unless the speedometer is more carefully watched than is customary with some drivers.

As he tells it, he was driving along the highway toward a neighboring smaller city, and wondered why all of the cars going in the same direction were moving so slowly that he had to pass one after another of them.

Then—as he tells it—he happened to look at the speedometer and found—much to his surprise—that he was traveling NINETY MILES AN HOUR.

That may be one of the reasons why it is difficult to attain greater safety on the highways—the cars that will speed up to eighty-five or ninety miles an hour while the driver is thinking about something else.

English Girls In Air Service

WOMEN have been showing their versatility lately by ferrying warplanes to and around Britain. It is a useful variation of ordinary flight, and a trying one. Air Transport Auxiliary girls are flying many different types of planes all over the country, some of them very big and hard to handle, and masculine flyers are said to be enthusiastic about them.

"The girls in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, or the WAAFS as they call them," says an observer, "are doing all kinds of hard, tough work, and doing it wonderfully well. They run offices, they work on instruments, they fold parachutes, they clean spark plugs, they swab down planes—they do almost anything men mechanics can do."

So women attain equality with men in the air as well as on the earth.

Gold Treatment for Arthritis

THERE is new hope for victims of arthritis, a widespread ailment once called "rheumatism." They are treating it now with gold. A medical preparation or extract of gold is injected into the body, usually in the hip.

Physicians say that the treatment is not regarded as a "cure" but in nearly three-fourths of the cases it seems to "halt the destructive process of the disease." Dr. Wallace Graham of Toronto explains that the gold treatment "should be combined with general constitutional measures.

Some American physicians are said to have had good results recently by simply treating arthritis with ultra-violet light. Such treatment is based on the theory that arthritis may be caused by focal infections in various parts of the body, and may yield to penetrating rays directed at the source of infection by a powerful ultra-violet lamp. This procedure, like the gold treatment, naturally requires expert handling.

Fierce Rivalry for Defense Funds

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

LOCAL delegations from all over the country are in red hot competition in Washington for governmentally financed industries and developments of the defensive or aid the democracies type.

At least, the applicants for 'em argue that home defense and helpfulness to nations like Britain, China and now Soviet Russia, are the ends that their various and almost innumerable projects will serve.

In not a few instances administrations like Director William C. Knudsen's Office of Production Management, don't believe that these schemes have much merit in 'em, or, if they do possess recognized merit, that the communities which are clamoring for 'em are suitably situated to operate 'em from.

Turned down by such an outfit as Bill Knudsen's, the disappointed local committees invariably appeal to their respective states' senators or districts' representatives to pull strings in their behalf. Generally the senators and representatives try to do it, being mindful of the fact that, if they don't, their balkiness will be remembered against 'em at home next election day.

The result is that most of the capital's lawmakers are kept too busy listening to the pleas and demands of these parties of their visiting constituents to have much time for anything else. The emergency agencies likewise are inundated with 'em and with senators and representational callers, too, urging that their home folk be given just what they want.

An emergency manager, being independent of votes, usually is harder boiled than a legislator and a good many of his would-be persecutors get no nearer to him than his ante-room. He can't afford to be that unceremonious with senators and representatives, though, or he'll antagonize enough of 'em to find himself being congressionally investigated before long.

Scatter Method Okay.

Defense and aid-the-democracies bosses aren't averse to a considerable scatteration of the industries they control, among widely-spread-out and smallish plants. It prevents congestion at a few centers and is a safeguard against wholesale damage at overly concentrated points.

Still, emergency management wants a little of the distribution left to its own discretion. Else it's afraid of installation difficulties in inconvenient spots, transportation delays and other bothers.

But localities take no such consideration into account.

If a certain Podunk, being handily placed, gets a nice munitions factory, for instance, boosting the value of its real estate and making its business hum, all nearby Podunks are as jealous as blazes immediately, and rush committees to Washington, each howling for a similar factory in its own particular neighborhood's midst. Each one screams that it NEEDS a factory and is as much entitled to it as anywhere else.

Moreover, bigger things than mere factories are being pressed for.

Pending in congress already is a bill to build a highway from the state of Washington, along the Rockies, through a strip Canada's said to be willing to grant, to and into Alaska. The idea's to facilitate defense of the territory agains aggression from the Asiatic side of Behring sea and strait—now deemed quite a possibility, depending on how the Russo-German war comes out.

The situation's reminiscent of the one that prevailed when Uncle Sam launched his economic relief campaign in the early days of the New Deal.

No 'Common People'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I DON'T LIKE that phrase "common people." It's both stupid and untrue, and it has wasted and withered thousands of lives which might have been strong and colorful if they hadn't been caught in its trap.

I've spent my life among those people we call "the common herd"—obscure, inarticulate workers whose drab lives seem to have no difference or distinction. But I've yet to find one who was really common, one who didn't possess a distinct pattern of his own and a special power or dream that set him apart from all other men and women.

Taken in the mass, we're all apt to behave like sheep. Follow the same regimented program. Talk the same stereotyped blah. Adopt the same fads and prejudices. But underneath each conventional surface, there's a spirit unlike any other spirit on earth . . . a spirit which might go on great adventures if we only had the courage to believe in it or release it.

The greatest tragedy in life is our own lack of faith in ourselves . . . our inability to realize the power that lies in ourselves.

WE'RE ALWAYS EXPECTING MIRACLES TO HAPPEN . . . YET THE GREATEST OF ALL MIRACLES LIES IN OUR OWN NATURES, WAITING TO BE DISCOVERED.

Remember those long hours you spent as a youngster, thinking about yourself, feeling that you were "different" . . . that you had something the other fellow didn't have . . . wondering how you could prove it? Then life caught you up . . . threw you into the treadmill . . . and those dreams of your hidden self dimmed and disappeared. Yet those dreams were the living truth, the most precious part of your whole existence. And your whole outlook would be changed today if you could revive them.

For you are "different." You're not merely part of a species, like a turnip or a rabbit. You're a highly specialized product with a special place in the scheme of things. You're an individual, and it is up to you to develop every side of that individuality.

YOU ARE YOUR OWN RICHEST OPPORTUNITY . . . AND THE GREATEST CRIME YOU CAN COMMIT IS TO NEGLECT THAT OPPORTUNITY AND LET YOURSELF BE TAGGED AND SHOVED INTO A GROOVE.

"But what can I do about it?" you say wearily. "I haven't any money or pull. I stick in this same old rut, day after day; there's no chance for me to get away from here and make a fresh start."

You don't need money or pull to get out of that rut. You don't need to go away to make a fresh start. You simply need a new attitude toward yourself and the life around you . . . a new pride . . . a new curiosity. Once everything you saw was exciting . . . everything you did was important. Life is just as exciting today, just as important. Only you have changed . . . you've let yourself lose interest. You're living on the downbeat.

GET THAT INTEREST BACK! LET YOUR REAL SELF OUT!

Dare again to feel different . . . to ask questions . . . to make experiments . . . to be the "Lone Ranger" you were meant to be and not mere No. 973,745 on somebody's pay roll.

THERE ARE NO COMMON PEOPLE. THEN STOP ACTING LIKE ONE!

Timely Editorial

Another Year In the Red.

The fiscal year of the federal government has just ended. During the 12 months, $12,710,000,000 was spent. This was $5,103,000,000 more than the United States treasury took in. While all the financial burden for defense has been added, there have been no reductions or economies in any other of the enormous Administration outlays. No extravagances have been abandoned.

The public debt has now passed the 49 billion mark. The really disturbing factor in the whole situation of absence of sound financial policy at Washington is that lack of alarm which seems to be the general attitude. Another fiscal year ends in the red, but that color seems to have lost its warning power in public finance.—Toledo Blade.

Army Ordnance Men Overruled To Develop New Trackless Tank

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—With Germany making its inroads upon Russia largely through the use of tanks, Secretary of War Stimson has been giving a lot of thought to developing an American weapon which would stop what he calls the "German mastodon."

Also he has been having a hot row with some of his own ordnance people over the purchase of a new and trackless tank which Stimson thinks may be the answer. The chief of ordnance, General C. M. Wesson, opposed purchase of the new tank as far too expensive.

However, General Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war during World war I and now war department adviser on material, went over Wesson's head to Secretary Stimson himself.

"An eight-wheel tank has just been developed," General Crowell told Stimson, "that is a wonderful thing. It may be the answer to Germany. It has been turned down by ordnance, but I think you ought to see it."

So Secretary Stimson went over to Ft. Meyer and saw it demonstrated, later sent it down to Ft. Knox to General A. R. Chaffee, chief of the armored force. Then he went to Ft. Knox, personally, and conferred with General Chaffee, who was enthusiastic, wanted the army to order seventeen tanks immediately. But ordnance wanted to order two at the most, considered the price far too high.

Turned Down Lewis Gun.

AT THIS POINT Stimson harked back to the days when he was secretary of war in the Taft administration.

"There is always a balance to be attained between what the fighting forces want and what the war department in Washington wants them to have," he explained to friends, "and the trouble with the ordnance office is that it is so deluged with people who want to win the war with new inventions, that it gets rather callous.

"However, the last time I yielded to the ordnance office in a matter like this was when I was secretary of war under President Taft—and regretted it. The ordnance people had turned down the Lewis machine-gun. General Crozier, a very dear friend of mine, was opposed to it. I went behind the barracks and shot the gun, but in the end I bowed to General Crozier and the army passed it up.

"Well the world now knows what became of the Lewis machine-gun. The next time I saw it, I was in a British airplane over the English Channel in the last war, and the pilot was using a Lewis machine-gun against the enemy. The British had bought the patent and perfected it."

"To Hell With Ordnance!"

SO LAST WEEK Stimson decided not to make the same mistake with the trackless tank. At Ft. Knox pictures were taken from inside the tank, looking out through a gun-hole, and it was proved that the eight wheels made the tank far smoother and thus more deadly in its aim. Also Stimson figured that it would take four or five months anyway to build two tanks, and seventeen could be built in the same period. So in the end he said: "To hell with ordnance," and overruled General Wesson.

Note—The original $58,000 price of the trackless tank, considered exorbitant, finally was reduced to about $35,000. Assistant Secretary of War McCloy, who handled the negotiations with ordnance got into a veritable hair-pulling contest with them, but he was only reflecting Secretary Stimson's views.

In New Orleans.

COLONEL CHARLES H. MARCH, chairman of the federal trade commission, had occasion to visit New Orleans recently and stopped at the Roosevelt hotel. This is the hostelry where Seymour Weiss once worked as manager of the barber shop at $25 a week, then rose to be president of the hotel, not to mention commissioner of police, a boss of the Huey Long political machine, and Democratic national committeeman.

Colonel March knew this, but he had forgotten the epilogue—that Seymour Weiss had been sent to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he is still serving his term.

Meeting Weiss' brother, Bernard, who is now operating the Roosevelt hotel, Colonel March engaged him in polite conversation, finally frosted the cake with this ingenuous faux pas: "Tell me, Mr. Weiss, where is your brother now?"

Secret Ambassador.

DAPPER and loquacious, Gaston Henry-Haye is the great friend of actress Elsie deWolfe and millionaire Mrs. Harrison Williams, but no friend of Cordell Hull. In the ornate French embassy on Wyoming avenue or on the steps of the state department he issues ponderous statements on behalf of the Vichy government and goes through all the motions of being "Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary."

Actually, however, a much more important agent of Vichy lives a few blocks away. His name does not appear in the headlines, but he pulls the wires and makes the reports which dictate most of Vichy's policy in the U. S. A.

He is Camille Chautemps, who arrived in this country with a young wife and new born baby last summer after the fall of France. Living in a swank Connecticut avenue apartment at a rental of $475 a month, Chautemps has operated behind the scenes as a potent wire-puller for Vichy.

Twice premier of France Chautemps also was vice-premier under Blum the Socialist, under Daladier the conservative, also under Reynaud, who assayed the role of Winston Churchill. Chautemps also is a good friend of Marshall Petain, Admiral Darlan, Pierre Laval and General Weygand.

For a long time it was a mystery where Chautemps got the American currency with which to live. That mystery can now be solved. Chautemps receives from the Vichy government once a month a salary or pension of $2,000.

Capital Chaff.

NEWSMEN were asked not to mention the hospital where the president's private secretary, Marguerite ("Missey") LeHand is under treatment, because she would get more flowers than the hospital could hold. . . . Louisiana's Congressman F. Edward Hebert leaves no doubt how his name should be pronounced. In the congressional directory, he inserts after his name: "pronounced A-Bear)". . . . On hot days, a war of pennies enlivens Capitol Hill. Clerks toss pennies into the fountain near the senate wing, and little colored boys scramble for them, grossing as much as a dollar a day. . . . Homey Hattie Caraway of Arkansas is an admirer of glamorous Gail Patrick of Hollywood, and vice versa. . . . In Senator Vandenberg's office is a lithograph portrait of himself as big as a barn door. . . . Lawrence W. # Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If you like animals, you should go to the Central Park zoo because it is a sort of newsreel zoo of the managerie world. It's small. It's a lot of fun. It's free. I imagine you can see everything there in an hour, and yet there is plenty to see.

Furthermore, the animals all have some distinct trait or personality or talent that makes them stand out in your memory. There is a redheaded Rhesus monkey from India that looks just like Fred Allen. I am not being facetious. A dozen people commented on this the morning I was there. After looking at him for a few minutes you get the suspicion that he is just sitting there thinking up names to call Jack Benny.

The most graceful creature in the zoo is a tailless Gibbon monkey and the crudest is a chimpanzee who clowns until he gathers a crowd about him and then spits on people. He can out-spit a short-grass farmer.

The crowd got wise and hung around waiting for unwary visitors to come in. The high point of this exhibition came when two cops, on a busman's holiday, ambled in and shoved their way up to the bars. The chimp caught the nearest cop full in the face. The crowd broke down and howled.

I HAVE never seen such restlessness as that exhibited by the grey Canadian timber wolf—lean, shaggy, with treacherous haggard eyes, pacing up and down with never a pause. An attendant told me he paced without cessation from daylight until dusk. By comparison, the coyotes were docile puppies.

Rose, the hippopotamus, is no lady. She sprawls in ungenteel fashion in her private tank, snoozing. Occasionally she flounces out of the water as if she were going somewhere. When it dawns upon her that the cage has bars, she splashes back into the water for another snooze.

A proud, majestic creature is the tiglon, whose father was a Siberian tiger and whose mother was an African lioness. He looks like a lion and he is as large as a full-size jungle cat, but you can discern his tiger qualities by markings on his forehead.

I MUST confess that the buffalo seemed dull, stupid creatures. Perhaps the heat had them groggy. The polar bears were out of humor with the heat also, but they were the favorites of the gapers. Incidentally, about 10 a. m. the elephants are given a morning salad composed of a bushel of Irish potatoes. Raw. When the potatoes are placed on the ground the elephants throw a protecting trunk around them. Then they gather up half a dozen at once and shoot them into their mouths much as a boy would propel beans through a bean shooter.

The birds are gawdy and gay in their plumage, the panthers and bobcats sly, the foxes alert, the lions and alligators sleepy and bored. But the most noteworthy feature of Central Park zoo is its cleanliness and the absence of animal odor.

In sum—it's a knockout of a show.

Harvest Time

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THIS EVENING the moon appeared completely round above the green eastern hill. The sky was clear and the evening star shone bright in the west. No air stirred. Trees and hedges stood, cool and silent. But for the baying of a hound and the neighbors' lighted windows, the valley seemed asleep.

Full moon, where hills are high and deeply wooded, where streams run quietly between great sheltering trees, where a strange silence seems to penetrate the very soul of one who walks about upon the land, seems to give an atmosphere more beautiful than any other.

It is the harvest moon. Broad fields of shocks are dotted over a thousand hills. They stand like sentinels and guard the rich ripe grain within. About their bases young clover stretches up and buries the yellow faded stubble.

The grassy fields where heavy blooming clover and timothy grow have yielded to mower and rake. Tonight the close-cropped acres stand, smooth, dewy and undulating, beneath the harvest moon. Thin drifts of fog loop across the valley's hollows. A solitary owl complains from the hill that the brightness hurts his eyes.

This same moon looked down upon the harvest fields of every land—has done so for thousands of years, perhaps. It shines upon the plains of the far-famed Nile, the rugged hills of Palestine, the fertile valleys of Rome, the wide reaches of the Ukraine.

Though methods of garnering have changed from the sickle to the combine, from the ancient mow-hook to the green hay chopper,—though more work is done now with much less human labor—the essential purpose of the harvest differs not at all from that of the early day.

This season of the harvest moon, with serene quiet nights and long busy days should be a time of great delight—when essential food is gathered for the nation's bread. . . . When bins are heaped high with stores of grain and fragrant mows bulge and settle beneath the eaves of massive barns.

Our Father in Heaven, we thank thee for the bountiful harvest of our land—for the hope and comfort that it yields. Help us to share it wisely.

Salvation Army Planning Indoor Camp Activities

Plans will be completed Friday for the indoor-outdoor camping program to be sponsored by the Salvation Army for boys and girls unable to take advantage of camps outside of the city.

Two weeks will be devoted to the project with the girls' camp opening Monday, July 21, and the boys' camp the following Monday, Adjt. Paul Hoffman announced.

The camp is open to any 10 to 17-year old boy or girl and registration will be conducted at Army headquarters daily next week. No tuition fee is required.

Hikes, indoor and outdoor cookin, and regular camp features will comprise the program.

Arrangements are now being made to give Richland county's blind a three-day camping trip at either the Salvation Army camp at Delaware or the one at Akron. Tentative dates have been set for the last week in July.

CHAPTER V

Doris stared at George Malone. Her brain was busily untangling the web of circumstances that his remark tore down. Jimmy Allen of Chicago . . . "one of the richest men" . . . "inherited his grandfather's entire estate . . ."

Jimmy Allen! Why hadn't she guessed who he was? No wonder he thought she already knew about his affairs, his marriage. What must he have thought when she told him that names did not matter? The name Allen was one that did matter. One that represented a world of wealth and society that a girl who worked in Klane's basement could never enter.

"Well, my dear?" George Malone inquired.

"Mr. Allen is married," Doris replied coolly. "And I certainly am not going to discuss him with you."

He laughed. "Have it your own way."

Furious, Doris went below to her cabin.

Miss Pringle was reading. "What's the matter?"

Doris sank upon her bed and buried her face in the pillow.

"Jimmy's married. He admitted it when I asked him"

"Too bad he didn't announce it sooner."

"He seemed to think I knew. I guess I should have Mr Malone just told me he's one of the wealthy Chicago Allens. Mr. Malone insinuated that I came on this boat deliberately because of Jimmy."

"Don't worry about that, dear. What does it matter what Mr. Malone says, since it isn't true?"

Doris wiped the tears from her eyes. "But I'm afraid of him. He acts as if he had something on me."

"But that's ridiculous, Doris, how could he?"

"I don't know," Doris admitted "Everything is so confused and even though Jimmy is married—he can't be happy. There's more than that to it. Something is wrong."

She began to cry heartbrokenly. Great sobs tore at her throat. "I should have stayed at home, she wept. "I should have stayed where I belonged."

Roy and Bonnie had been right. She had no business on this ship She did not understand the intrigue and subtleness with which she was dealing And this world to which Jimmy Allen belonged was only an impossible dream to her. Could Jimmy's reticence be the natural result of the gulf that separated them? Did he interpret her eagerness as aggression?

Miss Pringle put a comforting arm about the girl's shaking shoulders.

"My dear, you mustn't take it so hard. When we get off this ship the whole thing will seem much less important."

"But you don't know the worst of it!" Doris cried. "Jimmy isn't even sure he even loves me. He said he wasn't sure of anything."

"Since he's already married, what else can he say? What do you expect?"

Doris sat up abruptly. "You're right. I'm acting like a child."

She undressed and went to bed without discussing it further. Deep in her heart she wished that she had listened to his explanation about his wife. Wasn't it possible that there was some answer?

"What's the matter with me?" she asked herself miserably as she lay awake hour after hour. She heard the night watchman making his rounds. She felt the gentle throb of the ship's engines, and heard the soft hiss of water outside the porthole, where the moonlight poured across the Caribbean. In three days she would be in Rio. Jimmy had said it was the most beautiful sight in the world. She had imagined them standing together at the rail.

The next day she remained in her cabin.

"I haven't the courage to see him," she told Miss Pringle.

"He asked me where you were."

Doris did not reply She was sitting up in bed writing to Bonnie. Telling her friend " that had happened on th , ill-fated journey.

"I thought I was unhappy back in Detroit," she wrote. "I thought that working so hard, and having to live at Mrs. Ames' was trouble. But now I know that there's nothing worse than this—loving a man you can't have, a man who isn't even sure of his feeling for you. Remember when I said I wanted to fall in love? I got my wish, all right, but not at all as I expected . . ."

She put down her fountain pen and looked around the cheerful cabin. She had come on this trip to have fun, and here she was feeling sorry for herself Forcing her complaints upon others She tore up the letter to Bonnie, rose from her bed and dressed Resolutely she brushed her hair and added a touch of rouge to her pale cheeks Then, determined to be cheerful, she went back on deck to look for Miss Pringle

Instead she found Jimmy Allen sitting in her own deck chair.

"I want to talk to you, Doris"

"Please, Jimmy! I'd rather not"

His blue eyes were stormy. "Because I'm married you haven't any use for me Is that it?"

Her voice was pleading. "It has to be that way"

"Is that all there is to it?"

"No," she admitted, "it's more complicated than that."

"Meaning what?" How hard he was. How unfair!

"I don't want to talk about it," Doris said desperately. How could she tell him the hopelessness in her heart? Or about the conversation with George Malone? And above all, the searing pain caused by his own indecision? Regardless of his present relationship with his wife, he was still bound to her. Many couples quarreled and talked of divorce, but still managed to put together the broken pieces of their marriage. Jimmy was young. He was also impulsive and uncertain. For her own sake she must stay out of a situation in which she had no part.

Jimmy was watching her, waiting for her to speak

She managed to smile. "We'll be in Rio soon, and then it will be all over. It will be easier to forget."

"No. I'm going on to Buenos Aires the next day."

He did not pursue the subject.

The night of the captain's dinner was a gala occasion. Even the ordinary reserved Miss Pringle threw herself into the spirit of the evening. There was a special menu, with imported wine, and there were speeches and laughter that continued far into the night. Doris danced with many partners, but not until the last dance did Jimmy ask her.

"The last one for me, Doris?"

"All right, Jimmy." She tried to make her voice light.

But her heart beat madly to the tempo of the music that swelled about them. The gentle pressure of his arms and the silent rhythm of their feet shattered her resistance. The love that she had pushed so far down into her heart rose sharply, uncontrollably. Impossible to fool herself, here in his arms. Impossible to tell herself that this was only a shipboard romance.

"We must have one farewell drink together," Jimmy told her.

They went into the crowded bar.

He consulted the steward and ordered a choice champagne.

"I've never had champagne before," Doris said.

"But this is a special occasion. Last nights are always very special."

And as on their first meeting, he lifted his glass to hers.

"To the future," he said.

Their troubled eyes met for a long searching moment before they drank.

Jimmy insisted upon walking back to her cabin with her and they said good night in the stuffy corridor.

"I suppose I'm not to kiss you?" he asked.

"No. This is good-bye, Jimmy."

"We'll be in Rio at dawn. It's a sight you'll never forget."

"I'll set the alarm," she promised.

He took her hands. "This is not good-bye, Doris," he said simply. "Remember that, will you?" and then, abruptly, he left her.

Her mind clung to his words. Was there a chance? She lay wide awake most of the night. The anticipated thrill of the arrival in Rio excited her. Tomorrow she would be in Brazil. A foreign country, a different language, a whole new world awaited her.

At dawn the shrill ringing of her alarm clock awakened her. She dressed quickly and went on deck to view the skyline of Rio de Janeiro. The rosy dawn cast a warm glow over the sleeping city. Sugar Loaf rose like a guardian at the gate of the city and the statue of Christ, with outstretched arms, looked down upon the harbor. There was something hushed, something unreal, something inexplicably beautiful in this city strung like an enchanted necklace along the coast.

Coffee was served for the early risers and afterward Doris finished her packing and changed into a cool blue linen suit. But it was several hours later that the ship docked. Doris watched as the baggage was taken off and the dark-skinned porters chanted in their native tongue from the wharf below. Doris felt like one in a dream. She had had no idea it would be so different from her own country.

But the thrill turned to heartbreak as she went on deck for the last time and witnessed Jimmy Allen's meeting with a black-haired girl in a white tailored suit who had just come on board. She had heard him call to her "Gloria," and she winced at the eagerness in his tone.

Then, as he put his arms about the other woman, Doris ran down the gangplank, blinded by her tears. Before they were even off the ship he was with another woman! Holding her in his arms! Could this be his wife? Or was he just a playboy, after all?

George Malone caught her arm. "Crying?" he asked in pretended surprise.

"Let me alone!" she ordered sharply.

"We'll meet again, my dear," he assured her.

"Not if I can help it!" Doris thought, but a cold shudder of apprehension shook her as she hurried to the taxi where Miss Pringle was waiting.

CHAPTER V

Doris stared at George Malone. Her brain was busily untangling the web of circumstances that his remark tore down. Jimmy Allen of Chicago . . . "one of the richest men" . . . "inherited his grandfather's entire estate . . ."

Jimmy Allen! Why hadn't she guessed who he was? No wonder he thought she already knew about his affairs, his marriage. What must he have thought when she told him that names did not matter? The name Allen was one that did matter. One that represented a world of wealth and society that a girl who worked in Klane's basement could never enter.

"Well, my dear?" George Malone inquired.

"Mr. Allen is married," Doris replied coolly. "And I certainly am not going to discuss him with you."

He laughed. "Have it your own way."

Furious, Doris went below to her cabin.

Miss Pringle was reading. "What's the matter?"

Doris sank upon her bed and buried her face in the pillow.

"Jimmy's married. He admitted it when I asked him."

"Too bad he didn't announce it sooner."

"He seemed to think I knew. I guess I should have. Mr. Malone just told me he's one of the wealthy Chicago Allens. Mr. Malone insinuated that I came on this boat deliberately because of Jimmy."

"Don't worry about that, dear. What does it matter what Mr Malone says, since it isn't true?"

Doris wiped the tears from her eyes "But I'm afraid of him He acts as if he had something on me."

"But that's ridiculous, Doris, how could he?"

"I don't know," Doris admitted. "Everything is so confused and even though Jimmy is married—he can't be happy. There's more than that to it. Something is wrong."

She began to cry heartbrokenly. Great sobs tore at her throat "I should have stayed at home, she wept "I should have stayed where I belonged"

Roy and Bonnie had been right She had no business on this ship She did not understand the intrigue and subtleness with which she was dealing. And this world to which Jimmy Allen belonged was only an impossible dream to her. Could Jimmy's reticence be the natural result of the gulf that separated them? Did he interpret her eagerness as aggression?

Miss Pringle put a comforting arm about the girl's shaking shoulders.

"My dear, you mustn't take it so hard. When we get off this ship the whole thing will seem much less important."

"But you don't know the worst of it!" Doris cried. "Jimmy isn't even sure he even loves me He said he wasn't sure of anything."

"Since he's already married, what else can he say? What do you expect?"

Doris sat up abruptly. "You're right. I'm acting like a child."

She undressed and went to bed without discussing it further. Deep in her heart she wished that she had listened to his explanation about his wife. Wasn't it possible that there was some answer?

"What's the matter with me?" she asked herself miserably as she lay awake hour after hour. She heard the night watchman making his rounds. She felt the gentle throb of the ship's engines, and heard the soft hiss of water outside the porthole, where the moonlight poured across the Caribbean In three days she would be in Rio Jimmy had said it was the most beautiful sight in the world She had imagined them standing together at the rail.

The next day she remained in her cabin

"I haven't the courage to see him," she told Miss Pringle

"He asked me where you were"

Doris did not reply She was sitting up in bed writing to Bonnie. Telling her friend all that had happened on this ill-fated journey.

"I thought I was unhappy back in Detroit," she wrote "I thought that working so hard, and having to live at Mrs Ames' was trouble. But now I know that there's nothing worse than this—loving a man you can't have, a man who isn't even sure of his feeling for you Remember when I said I wanted to fall in love? I got my wish, all right, but not at all as I expected . . ."

She put down her fountain pen and looked around the cheerful cabin. She had come on this trip to have fun, and here she was feeling sorry for herself Forcing her complaints upon others. She tore up the letter to Bonnie, rose from her bed and dressed Resolutely she brushed her hair and added a touch of rouge to her pale cheeks Then, determined to be cheerful she went back on deck to look for Miss Pringle

Instead she found Jimmy Allen sitting in her own deck chair.

"I want to talk to you, Doris"

"Please, Jimmy! I'd rather not!"

His blue eyes were stormy "Because I'm married you haven't any use for me Is that it?"

Her voice was pleading "It has to be that way"

"Is that all there is to it?"

"No," she admitted, "it's more complicated than that."

"Meaning what?" How hard he was. How unfair!

"I don't want to talk about it," Doris said desperately. How could she tell him the hopelessness in her heart? Or about the conversation with George Malone? And above all, the searing pain caused by his own indecision? Regardless of his present relationship with his wife, he was still bound to her. Many couples quarreled and talked of divorce, but still managed to put together the broken pieces of their marriage Jimmy was young. He was also impulsive and uncertain. For her own sake she must stay out of a situation in which she had no part.

Jimmy was watching her, waiting for her to speak

She managed to smile. "We'll be in Rio soon, and then it will be all over. It will be easier to forget."

"No I'm going on to Buenos Aires the next day"

He did not pursue the subject.

* * *

The night of the captain's dinner was a gala occasion. Even the ordinary reserved Miss Pringle threw herself into the spirit of the evening. There was a special menu, with imported wine, and there were speeches and laughter that continued far into the night. Doris danced with many partners, but not until the last dance did Jimmy ask her.

"The last one for me, Doris?"

"All right, Jimmy." She tried to make her voice light.

But her heart beat madly to the tempo of the music that swelled about them. The gentle pressure of his arms and the silent rhythm of their feet shattered her resistance. The love that she had pushed so far down into her heart rose sharply, uncontrollably. Impossible to fool herself, here in his arms. Impossible to tell herself that this was only a shipboard romance.

"We must have one farewell drink together," Jimmy told her.

They went into the crowded bar.

He consulted the steward and ordered a choice champagne

"I've never had champagne before," Doris said.

"But this is a special occasion. Last nights are always very special."

And as on their first meeting, he lifted his glass to hers.

"To the future," he said.

Their troubled eyes met for a long searching moment before they drank

Jimmy insisted upon walking back to her cabin with her and they said good night in the stuffy corridor.

"I suppose I'm not to kiss you?" he asked.

"No. This is good-bye, Jimmy"

"We'll be in Rio at dawn. It's a sight you'll never forget"

"I'll set the alarm," she promised

He took her hands "This is not good-bye, Doris," he said simply. "Remember that, will you?" and then, abruptly, he left her.

Her mind clung to his words. Was there a chance? She lay wide awake most of the night. The anticipated thrill of the arrival in Rio excited her. Tomorrow she would be in Brazil. A foreign country, a different language, a whole new world awaited her.

At dawn the shrill ringing of her alarm clock awakened her She dressed quickly and went on deck to view the skyline of Rio de Janeiro The rosy dawn cast a warm glow over the sleeping city. Sugar Loaf rose like a guardian at the gate of the city and the statue of Christ, with outstretched arms, looked down upon the harbor. There was something hushed, something unreal, something inexplicably beautiful in this city strung like an enchanted necklace along the coast.

Coffee was served for the early risers and afterward Doris finished her packing and changed into a cool blue linen suit. But it was several hours later that the ship docked Doris watched as the baggage was taken off and the dark-skinned porters chanted in their native tongue from the wharf below. Doris felt like one in a dream. She had had no idea it would be so different from her own country.

But the thrill turned to heartbreak as she went on deck for the last time and witnessed Jimmy Allen's meeting with a black-haired girl in a white tailored suit who had just come on board. She had heard him call to her "Gloria," and she winced at the eagerness in his tone.

Then, as he put his arms about the other woman, Doris ran down the gangplank, blinded by her tears. Before they were even off the ship he was with another woman! Holding her in his arms! Could this be his wife? Or was he just a playboy, after all?

George Malone caught her arm. "Crying?" he asked in pretended surprise.

"Let me alone!" she ordered sharply.

"We'll meet again, my dear," he assured her.

"Not if I can help it!" Doris thought but a cold shudder of apprehension shook her as she hurried to the taxi where Miss Pringle was waiting.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, July 12.

An extremely lively and enterprising day is read from interesting planetary auspices. Things will move in all directions under high tempo, with workaday matters as well as personal, social, cultural and festive occasions bringing excitement as well as much pleasure and profit. The young are especially joyous and fortunate, with courtship and marriage looming large and all manisfestations of friendly interest and human welfare spurring to activity. There may be need of some conservatism in outlay of funds and litigation is threatened.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an unusually lively and exciting year, with all affairs moving in exhilarating grooves, both in the business and private life. Business should be promising, with new things under fine stimuli for success and expansion. But shun extravagance, false values and even dubious promises, although surprising friendships, even romance, are of utmost importance in the progress and happiness of the year. There may be some menace of litigation, unless astuteness be exercised. Youth should find joy and prosperity.

A child born on this day should be exceedingly talented, versatile and energetic and should have a happy, romantic and successful career, although prone to show extravagance and perhaps bombast.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Noel hurried away, while I leaned my head against the wall, utterly spent with the reaction of relief, after my terror at his murderous rage against Redfield.

The door of Mary's bedroom opened and she came up to me swiftly with one eye upon the other door.

"Where's Noel?" she asked anxiously. "You did a magnificent job getting him out. I dashed out through my bedroom as you went out this way. But is Noel headed back for trouble? If he is, he will have to knock two people down to get at Steve. Dad's got Steve in tow, with Olga on the other side of him. Oh, I never dreamed! And yet, underneath I was afraid, too."

"You'd better start dreaming," I told her sternly. "I want to talk to you later."

"And I want to talk to you," she retorted meaningly.

Mary Anxious About Noel.

"But just now, I want to know what Noel's doing?" she repeated anxiously.

"You don't need to worry about him just now," I said. "He has gone in to get Olga or Nancy Carew to come out here, to give the impression to the others that I really was faint."

"I'm awfully glad those babies in there didn't get their eyes and ears full," she said. "Of course Steve will beat it as soon as possible—I don't think little Stevie is quite so valorous off the stage as he is on—and it's about time for the party to break up anyway.

"But I imagine it will be old Nancy whom Noel will bring back to you. Dad and Mother will think they have to form a guard of honor around Steve until they're sure that Noel is calmed down."

"But didn't he look positively savage when he started across the floor? I didn't know he had it in him."

The next instant her prediction was justified, for the door opened and Noel escorted Nancy Carew through it.

"Noel tells me you are faint," she said, "and will need somebody to go to your room with you. I do hope you will say I am adequate help, for really, neither Olga nor Mary ought to leave the party."

"You're all the help I need," I said firmly. "Mary, child—"

"Oh, I know when I'm put in my place." Mary said airily. "I'll go back to the party now, and make your excuses as prettily as I can. How about it, Noel? Give me a hand or an arm back?"

"Remember," I said softly as they turned away. "Play up, both of you!"

Chance For Talk With Mary.

"Okay." Mary answered, and Noel's slower 'I'll remember,' was equally emphatic. When they had gone through the door, I rose, and slipped my hand underneath Nancy Carew's elbow.

"What an opportunity for that talk you wanted with me!" I said, impelling her toward the outside hall.

"Isn't it?" she responded heartily. "I'd call it heaven-sent, only I'm afraid there was nothing heavenly about the thing that enabled us to get together."

"No, indeed," I said. "Now that it's over, I don't mind telling you that I was terribly afraid of what Noel might do."

BRILLIANCY IN REVERSE

Only the finest players, it seems, can find ways to go down emphatically on hands which figure to produce extra tricks. Or is it simply because you notice it more when they do it? In any event, they are sometimes overwhelmed by their own ambition in an effort to take the maximum number of tricks, whereas the great rank and file of players do not over-reach so far on some kinds of hands.

In the South was one of the neatest manipulators of No Trump contracts among New York's duplicate players, Julius Aceves, who usually gets any extra tricks which are there to be had. His partner was James McQuade and his opponents Joseph O'Connor in the West and Dr. Frederick Goldman.

The spade 3 was led to the Q and the Club 10 led, the 9 being put under it and East ducking. The diamond J was sent to the Q and the heart 6 led to the A, followed by the spade K and A. The diamond A was cashed, the 10 used to get in the South and the club 4 led to the J and K. The heart K was cashed and the heart 2 led. Mr. Aceves decided to finesse the heart 9, and it lost to the 10. When West led back his good spade 9, the poor declarer debated as to his discard from the dummy, where he had the good diamond K and club A. A club and a diamond were still out. With no sure indication as to what card West still retained, he guessed a discard of the club A, whereupon West cashed the club 7 for the final trick.

Thus the effort to make over-tricks resulted in a set of two tricks, without any one particular bad play to be blamed for it, but merely a rush of ambition, too much finessing and taking too much for granted. A pessimist would have made at least 4-No Trumps without any trouble.

NAZIS CRACK DOWN

STRASBOURG — (AP) — Shopkeepers, many to their sorrow, are learning that Nazi Germany enforces its laws. Many have been fined, a few up to 15,000 marks, for raising prices. Inspectors found some shops were charging 30 per cent more for shoes than was being asked for similar shoes in the old Reich. Clothing prices were up to 20 per cent higher until a couple of drastic fines regimented the merchants.

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

HAROLD is a movie star. He is a very romantic movie star, as any fan from here to Oshkosh can tell you—and as Harold can tell you, too. But actually he is modest about his screen work—it's his extra-curricular romancing that he makes a real career.

Dorothy Kilgallen

One night not long ago he was in New York on a visit, sitting at a ringside table in one of the big night clubs that has an elaborate show with plenty of cute young things in the chorus line. One of the girls, a pretty, 16-year-old, struck his fancy and he didn't take his eyes off her until the show was over. Then he sent a note backstage asking her to go out with him that night.

The 16-year-old, whose name was Judy, was thrilled at this attention from the big star. Of course, she went.

During the taxi ride across town, Harold said casually that he had to stop up at his apartment for a minute to get something he'd forgotten — and wouldn't she come with him? Judy said no; her mother had always told her not to go to a gentleman's apartment. But he kidded her into it, told her it was just for a minute while he found his cigaret case, or clean hankie, or whatever the excuse was.

Judy went. After all, what could happen? He was a movie star and a gentleman, wasn't he?

As soon as they got inside, the old scene from the melodrama was played. Harold made a pass at Judy, and Judy—who really wasn't that kind of a girl—tried to run away. When she found she couldn't, she screamed.

And Harold, who is so smooth in the movies, hauled off at Judy—and knocked out her front teeth!

But you can't print that, for the same reason that Judy couldn't sue Harold, although her friends urged her to. She—and her parents—knew that nobody in town would believe that a chorus girl would have gone to Harold's apartment in the middle of the night just to help him look for his cigaret case!

Jimmy is one of this year's Broadway hits. He married a lovely Hollywood actress who was on her way to stardom, but she decided to give up the films to be Jimmy's wife. Let's call her Daphne, because that is nothing like her name.

Daphne had a young brother named Carl, who couldn't keep out of trouble. Daphne never knew when she was going to get a call saying he was up for larceny, or assault, or drunken driving.

Whenever this happened, Jimmy came to the rescue. He helped Carl out of jams and supplied the money for lawyers. He couldn't always keep Carl from getting his just deserts, however—and finally the lad did a stretch in an out-of-state prison.

Just about the time Jimmy clicked big on Broadway this year, Carl got out of prison, and soon he was on the wrong side of the law again. He sent Daphne the old S. O. S.

Daphne went to Jimmy for help, as she always had—and she was astonished when Jimmy turned her down. He tried to explain to her:

"All my life I've wanted to click in a Broadway show. And now that I have, I won't let anything ruin it. Before, when Carl got into trouble, I could help him without any publicity, nobody knew who I was. Now I'd get into a page one scandal. And he isn't worth it."

Jimmy was right, of course, but Daphne couldn't see it that way. She and Jimmy quarreled bitterly. Finally, they separated.

News of their parting swept the Broadway crowd. People began to walk on the other side of the street when Jimmy came along, and a few brave pals called him a heel to his face, because he had "tossed over" his wife when he'd become a success. A few reminded him bitterly of the career she had tossed over to marry him.

None of those knew the true story, and he never told them. He just did his shows and hoped that Daphne would see things his way and come back to him.

And she did. She realized that he loved her and that his refusal to help Carl only grew out of the fact that Carl wasn't worth helping. She went back to Jimmy, and now they're the happiest couple on Broadway.

But you can't print that. Jimmy wants to forget the whole thing. He knows enough about plots now to know that you can't have the happy ending in the first act.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Ray Milland was studying Spanish on the set. "I just like languages," he explained. Besides English, he speaks French and his native Welsh. Used to know German and Italian but has forgotten them.

Obligingly, he addressed a few sentences to me in Welsh, a tongue which, with due apologies to those interested, these untrained ears found similar to double-talk on a sound track played in reverse.

We talked about Greek, Russian, and Japanese.

"Japanese," said scholar Milland. "There's a language! It doesn't sound like one. Sounds like birds talking."

Then he said something else in Welsh. It wasn't "hut sut on the rillerah," but it might have been for all I knew.

There's a great novelty movie waiting to be made by some producer—just a movie about Singapore minus a shady lady. If it's not Dietrich haunting the waterfront or the jungle, it's somebody else — like Brenda Marshall in "Singapore Woman." Now they've got that nice gal, good actress Florence Rice doing it as "The Blond From Singapore."

For "Wild Geese Calling" there's a scene in which Bad Man Warren Williams tries to persuade Faithful Wife Joan Bennett to flee with him from Ever Lovin' Man Henry Fonda. Wifey Joan, walking into the scene with a shawl over her head, has been shopping. She's carrying a sack of potatoes. This is obviously a mistake. What should be in that sack? All together now, quiz kids: "Corn!"

Charlie Bickford, who used to spend a lot of time and money buying and running businesses, is concentrating on acting now. But he still owns an interesting property—a speck of an island in the Indian ocean. He bought it from an ad, has never seen it.

Paulette Goddard gets a hollow laugh out of that "ideal vacation mate" honor given her by the college boys—she's been trying to get a vacation for the past 18 months. . . .

FARMERS RENEW ATTACK AGAINST WHEAT PENALTY

Hit Provision That Excess Grain Cannot Be Fed To Cattle.

(By International News Service)

Ohio farmers, who voted against acceptance of the AAA's wheat marketing program, today renewed with increased fury their attacks on the penalty provisions of the act, concentrating their fire on a particular section which forbids them to feed excess wheat to their livestock.

Under the program, farmers who exceed their wheat quota must either store their grain against their quotas next year, turn it in to be used for charitable purposes, or pay a penalty of 49 cents a bushel.

The program was approved nationally in a wheat growers' referendum, although in this state it was rejected.

At Washington C. H., 1,500 farmers from the six-county surrounding area enthusiastically cheered a statement by Harry Routzohn, Dayton attorney and former congressman, that "this regimentation had its origin in Russia. Let's send it back there!"

Routzohn charged that the referendum resulted in a favorable vote to the program because of "aye" votes by "western farmers who get checks for not raising wheat on land worth six or eight dollars an acre."

The farmers chose a committee to make a report to Washington of the state of resentment in Fayette, Ross, Highland, Madison, Clinton and Greene counties.

In Union county, where one of several farmers protective associations has been formed, 1,000 growers cheered news that a suit to test the constitutionality of the AAA program would be filed in the Dayton Federal court.

A similar association was formed at Urbana, where 600 Champaign county farmers elected G. S. Hagans, former national president of the farmers' guild, as their president and spokesman. At Radnor, Delaware county, 150 farmers elected as their leader Ed T. Jones, while at Springfield, Clark county wheat growers named Walter Engle as chairman.

FIGHTING RAGES IN BEIRUT AREA

Vichy Prepares Reply to Terms Submitted By British For Armistice.

dispatches said fighting still was raging.

Communications from Syria, however, have been slow.

The French said they were holding fast against the assault and reported shooting down four British planes and damaging another at a cost to themselves of only one.

Despite conflicting reports from abroad, the radio station at Beirut in Lebanon said the city still was in Vichy hands, though the British admittedly had approached to the outskirts.

The British terms were received during the night through the United States state department after 24 hours of confusion and conflicting reports during which the government, first said to be studying British proposals, issued an official communique pointedly declaring the British had not answered a plea for cessation of hostilities.

Contents of the British reply were closely guarded, but it was reported the British proposed a complete armistice.

High Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz was said to have requested a truce first, with armistice discussions to follow.

Other points at variance concerned reported British demands for participation of Free French representatives in the armistice negotiations, and a free hand to Vichy troops to join the Free French forces if they do not wish to return to France.

Authorized circles said they would not "treat with the DeGaullist command or allow native troops to be turned over to the DeGaullist army. These troops are engaged in the French army and must serve out their terms in the French army."

OHIO TROOPS IN SECOND REVIEW

Beightler Watches Two-Hour March As Training Operation.

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(AP)—In full battle regalia, the 37th Ohio division marched in review today before its commander, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler.

It was the second full dress parade since the division entered federal training; but unlike the first, today's was not a display for the public and honored guests. The soldiers marched as a training operation designed to bring the whole division together in a unit to reveal its full motorized and man-strength.

The parade, under command of Brig. Gen. Ludwig S. Connelly of Bedford, O., required two hours to pass. The men marched nine abreast.

PLANS COMPLETE

Army Approval Waited on Recruit Center at Camp Perry.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Plans for construction of an army recruit reception center at Camp Perry, today were complete except for the approval by the war department of a 25-year lease on the 66-acre site.

The reception center, big enough to accommodate 1,000 men is estimated to cost $800,000.

TORCH SINGER SHOOTS SELF AS MAN SAYS HE CAN'T MARRY HER

COLUMBUS — Rae Marsh, slender, dark-haired night club singer who crooned "My Man" across the floor to the one she hoped to marry, lay in a Columbus hospital today, a self-inflicted bullet wound close to the heart that cupid struck.

Police said she shot herself last night soon after Lee Kramer, master of ceremonies at the club, told her over the long distance phone from Youngstown:

"I can never marry because of my physical condition. Why not wait a few months and see if you still care?"

Kramer, who uses crutches, was seriously hurt in a fall in the Catskill mountains a few years ago, and was given only a year to live. He has a spinal injury.

Last Saturday night he was hurt in an automobile accident while going to Youngstown to visit friends and for a time it was feared he could not survive. Miss Marsh and others went to visit him.

The girl, who is 26 and lives in Marion, met Kramer while both were at a Miami Beach, Fla., night club. She has told friends here they were engaged. After talking to Kramer last night she went to his room, got a .32 calibre pistol and shot herself.

At the hospital she told police: "Oh! Why didn't I do a good job, why didn't I do a good job! It doesn't matter. I'll do a better job next time."

The police also said that she told Kramer over the phone that unless he married her she would kill herself.

Laff-a-Day

"Pop, if I wasn't so short of money, I'd blow ya to a soda!"

Bob Moore, who sells candy and ice cream out at General hospital, is blind, but usually he can hear the customers and since he knows where everything is, he can supply them quickly. Recently however, Bob got in a jam when a patient rapped on the glass counter. The patient, who was deaf and dumb, did not realize at first that Bob couldn't see and handed him a note calling for ice cream. For several minutes they stood in utter confusion, not being able to think of a means of communication, until another customer arrived and read the note to Bob. Vanilla was served.

Girl Scout daytime campers may be pretty busy learning how to cut firewood and make tin can stoves for outdoor cookery but they are still interested in fashion shows especially if they exhibit something practical for camp. This was indicated yesterday when the Brownies, known for the camping season as "Brown Rabbits," made big sun hats out of poster paper and decorated them with wooden quills and other ornamentation. When their project was completed they staged a style show for the edification of the entire assembly composed of 110 girls.

CONGRESSMEN SEE CALL FOR TRANSPORTS

Torpedo Boats Also Needed to Keep Atlantic Sea Lanes Open, Sources Say.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Roosevelt today approved additional defense expenditures by the navy and maritime commission totalling $3,323,000,000 and requested congress to authorize the money as speedily as possible.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Informed legislative sources said today that the navy will soon ask congress for another $4,000,000,000 primarily for transport ships and speedy torpedo boats to step up its job of "keeping Atlantic sealanes open."

These sources declared that administration requests now in the immediate making will total a round $10,000,000,000—the rest of the huge sum to go for increased lease-lend aid to England and for speeding the merchant shipbuilding program.

The predictions came as the house appropriations deficiency sub-committee met to speed passage of an army request for another $4,770,000,000 and as a strong congressional move developed for increased taxes to offset this additional spending.

The army request, already formally transmitted to the house included $3,486,000,000 for ordnance, which legislators said will be used to buy some 10,000 tanks to prepare for a total of 25 hard-hitting armored divisions for the American land forces.

Rep. Woodrum, (D.) Va., chairman of the deficiency group, predicted the appropriation would be approved with a minimum of objection, and said he expected to get the navy and maritime commission requests next week and the lease-lend propsals some time later.

All of these are expected to boost total appropriations for this session of congress to around the $50,000,000,000 mark, and in view of this increased spending Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau hinted that the pending tax bill may have to be revised upward.

In addition to the ordnance item, the new army request included $443,123,275 for clothing and equipment and which legislators said would be used as supplies for increasing the land manpower from 1,400,000 to 1,800,000, and $204,000,000 for the air corps which is expected to be used to start stepping up the 48,000 plane program to 70,000.

Westinghouse Will Build Giant New Plant at Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — (U.P.) — The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company today announced that it will construct a $1,800,000 factory here for manufacture of fluorescent lamp tubing and small glass stems, a new field for Westinghouse.

The announcement, made by Vice President David S. Young-Holm, said the factory will adjoin the new $3,000,000 Westinghouse plant for manufacture of fluorescent lamps, the largest of its kind in the world.

The plant, situated in a 90-acre tract along the Monongahela river, is expected to employ 400 men on its completion next May.

Operations of the Westinghouse company at Bloomfield, N. J., where automobile headlight, flashlight and Christmas tree blubs are made, will be transferred to Fairmont when the new plant is completed.

NAZIS CRACK DOWN

STRASBOURG — (AP) — Shopkeepers, many to their sorrow, are learning that Nazi Germany enforces its laws. Many have been fined, a few up to 15,000 marks, for raising prices. Inspectors found some shops were charging 30 per cent more for shoes than was being asked for similar shoes in the old Reich. Clothing prices were up to 20 per cent higher until a couple of drastic fines regimented the merchants.

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

HAROLD is a movie star. He is a very romantic movie star, as any fan from here to Oshkosh can tell you—and as Harold can tell you, too. But actually he is modest about his screen work—it's his extra-curricular romancing that he makes a real career.

Dorothy Kilgallen

One night not long ago he was in New York on a visit, sitting at a ringside table in one of the big night clubs that has an elaborate show with plenty of cute young things in the chorus line. One of the girls, a pretty, 16-year-old, struck his fancy and he didn't take his eyes off her until the show was over. Then he sent a note backstage asking her to go out with him that night.

The 16-year-old, whose name was Judy, was thrilled at this attention from the big star. Of course, she went.

During the taxi ride across town, Harold said casually that he had to stop up at his apartment for a minute to get something he'd forgotten — and wouldn't she come with him? Judy said no; her mother had always told her not to go to a gentleman's apartment. But he kidded her into it, told her it was just for a minute while he found his cigaret case, or clean hankie, or whatever the excuse was.

Judy went. After all, what could happen? He was a movie star and a gentleman, wasn't he?

As soon as they got inside, the old scene from the melodrama was played. Harold made a pass at Judy, and Judy—who really wasn't that kind of a girl—tried to run away. When she found she couldn't, she screamed.

And Harold, who is so smooth in the movies, hauled off at Judy—and knocked out her front teeth!

But you can't print that, for the same reason that Judy couldn't sue Harold, although her friends urged her to. She—and her parents—knew that nobody in town would believe that a chorus girl would have gone to Harold's apartment in the middle of the night just to help him look for his cigaret case!

Jimmy is one of this year's Broadway hits. He married a lovely Hollywood actress who was on her way to stardom, but she decided to give up the films to be Jimmy's wife. Let's call her Daphne, because that is nothing like her name.

Daphne had a young brother named Carl, who couldn't keep out of trouble. Daphne never knew when she was going to get a call saying he was up for larceny, or assault, or drunken driving.

Whenever this happened, Jimmy came to the rescue. He helped Carl out of jams and supplied the money for lawyers. He couldn't always keep Carl from getting his just deserts, however—and finally the lad did a stretch in an out-of-state prison.

Just about the time Jimmy clicked big on Broadway this year, Carl got out of prison, and soon he was on the wrong side of the law again. He sent Daphne the old S. O. S.

Daphne went to Jimmy for help, as she always had—and she was astonished when Jimmy turned her down. He tried to explain to her:

"All my life I've wanted to click in a Broadway show. And now that I have, I won't let anything ruin it. Before, when Carl got into trouble, I could help him without any publicity, nobody knew who I was. Now I'd get into a page one scandal. And he isn't worth it."

Jimmy was right, of course, but Daphne couldn't see it that way. She and Jimmy quarreled bitterly. Finally, they separated.

News of their parting swept the Broadway crowd. People began to walk on the other side of the street when Jimmy came along, and a few brave pals called him a heel to his face, because he had "tossed over" his wife when he'd become a success. A few reminded him bitterly of the career she had tossed over to marry him.

None of those knew the true story, and he never told them. He just did his shows and hoped that Daphne would see things his way and come back to him.

And she did. She realized that he loved her and that his refusal to help Carl only grew out of the fact that Carl wasn't worth helping. She went back to Jimmy, and now they're the happiest couple on Broadway.

But you can't print that. Jimmy wants to forget the whole thing. He knows enough about plots now to know that you can't have the happy ending in the first act.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Ray Milland was studying Spanish on the set. "I just like languages," he explained. Besides English, he speaks French and his native Welsh. Used to know German and Italian but has forgotten them.

Obligingly, he addressed a few sentences to me in Welsh, a tongue which, with due apologies to those interested, these untrained ears found similar to double-talk on a sound track played in reverse.

We talked about Greek, Russian, and Japanese.

"Japanese," said scholar Milland. "There's a language! It doesn't sound like one. Sounds like birds talking."

Then he said something else in Welsh. It wasn't "hut sut on the rillerah," but it might have been for all I knew.

There's a great novelty movie waiting to be made by some producer—just a movie about Singapore minus a shady lady. If it's not Dietrich haunting the waterfront or the jungle, it's somebody else — like Brenda Marshall in "Singapore Woman." Now they've got that nice gal, good actress Florence Rice doing it as "The Blond From Singapore."

For "Wild Geese Calling" there's a scene in which Bad Man Warren Williams tries to persuade Faithful Wife Joan Bennett to flee with him from Ever Lovin' Man Henry Fonda. Wifey Joan, walking into the scene with a shawl over her head, has been shopping. She's carrying a sack of potatoes. This is obviously a mistake. What should be in that sack? All together now, quiz kids: "Corn!"

Charlie Bickford, who used to spend a lot of time and money buying and running businesses, is concentrating on acting now. But he still owns an interesting property—a speck of an island in the Indian ocean. He bought it from an ad, has never seen it.

Paulette Goddard gets a hollow laugh out of that "ideal vacation mate" honor given her by the college boys—she's been trying to get a vacation for the past 18 months. . . .

FARMERS RENEW ATTACK AGAINST WHEAT PENALTY

Hit Provision That Excess Grain Cannot Be Fed To Cattle.

(By International News Service)

Ohio farmers, who voted against acceptance of the AAA's wheat marketing program, today renewed with increased fury their attacks on the penalty provisions of the act, concentrating their fire on a particular section which forbids them to feed excess wheat to their livestock.

Under the program, farmers who exceed their wheat quota must either store their grain against their quotas next year, turn it in to be used for charitable purposes, or pay a penalty of 49 cents a bushel.

The program was approved nationally in a wheat growers' referendum, although in this state it was rejected.

At Washington C. H., 1,500 farmers from the six-county surrounding area enthusiastically cheered a statement by Harry Routzohn, Dayton attorney and former congressman, that "this regimentation had its origin in Russia. Let's send it back there!"

Routzohn charged that the referendum resulted in a favorable vote to the program because of "aye" votes by "western farmers who get checks for not raising wheat on land worth six or eight dollars an acre."

The farmers chose a committee to make a report to Washington of the state of resentment in Fayette, Ross, Highland, Madison, Clinton and Greene counties.

In Union county, where one of several farmers protective associations has been formed, 1,000 growers cheered news that a suit to test the constitutionality of the AAA program would be filed in the Dayton Federal court.

A similar association was formed at Urbana, where 600 Champaign county farmers elected G. S. Hagans, former national president of the farmers' guild, as their president and spokesman. At Radnor, Delaware county, 150 farmers elected as their leader Ed T. Jones, while at Springfield, Clark county wheat growers named Walter Engle as chairman.

FIGHTING RAGES IN BEIRUT AREA

Vichy Prepares Reply to Terms Submitted By British For Armistice.

dispatches said fighting still was raging.

Communications from Syria, however, have been slow.

The French said they were holding fast against the assault and reported shooting down four British planes and damaging another at a cost to themselves of only one.

Despite conflicting reports from abroad, the radio station at Beirut in Lebanon said the city still was in Vichy hands, though the British admittedly had approached to the outskirts.

The British terms were received during the night through the United States state department after 24 hours of confusion and conflicting reports during which the government, first said to be studying British proposals, issued an official communique pointedly declaring the British had not answered a plea for cessation of hositilities.

Contents of the British reply were closely guarded, but it was reported the British proposed a complete armistice.

High Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz was said to have requested a truce first, with armistice discussions to follow.

Other points at variance concerned reported British demands for participation of Free French representatives in the armistice negotiations, and a free hand to Vichy troops to join the Free French forces if they do not wish to return to France.

Authorized circles said they would not "treat with the DeGaullist command or allow native troops to be turned over to the DeGaullist army. These troops are engaged in the French army and must serve out their terms in the French army."

OHIO TROOPS IN SECOND REVIEW

Beightler Watches Two-Hour March As Training Operation.

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(AP)—In full battle regalia, the 37th Ohio division marched in review today before its commander, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler.

It was the second full dress parade since the division entered federal training; but unlike the first, today's was not a display for the public and honored guests. The soldiers marched as a training operation designed to bring the whole division together in a unit to reveal its full motorized and man-strength.

The parade, under command of Brig. Gen. Ludwig S. Connelly of Bedford, O., required two hours to pass. The men marched nine abreast.

PLANS COMPLETE

Army Approval Waited on Recruit Center at Camp Perry.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Plans for construction of an army recruit reception center at Camp Perry, today were complete except for the approval by the war department of a 25-year lease on the 66-acre site.

The reception center, big enough to accommodate 1,000 men is estimated to cost $800,000.

TORCH SINGER SHOOTS SELF AS MAN SAYS HE CAN'T MARRY HER

COLUMBUS — Rae Marsh, slender, dark-haired night club singer who crooned "My Man" across the floor to the one she hoped to marry, lay in a Columbus hospital today, a self-inflicted bullet wound close to the heart that cupid struck.

Police said she shot herself last night soon after Lee Kramer, master of ceremonies at the club, told her over the long distance phone from Youngstown:

"I can never marry because of my physical condition. Why not wait a few months and see if you still care?"

Kramer, who uses crutches, was seriously hurt in a fall in the Catskill mountains a few years ago, and was given only a year to live. He has a spinal injury.

Last Saturday night he was hurt in an automobile accident while going to Youngstown to visit friends and for a time it was feared he could not survive. Miss Marsh and others went to visit him.

The girl, who is 26 and lives in Marion, met Kramer while both were at a Miami Beach, Fla., night club. She has told friends here they were engaged. After talking to Kramer last night she went to his room, got a .32 calibre pistol and shot herself.

At the hospital she told police: "Oh! Why didn't I do a good job, why didn't I do a good job! It doesn't matter. I'll do a better job next time."

The police also said that she told Kramer over the phone that unless he married her she would kill herself.

Laff-a-Day

"Pop, if I wasn't so short of money, I'd blow ya to a soda!"

Bob Moore, who sells candy and ice cream out at General hospital, is blind, but usually he can hear the customers and since he knows where everything is, he can supply them quickly. Recently however, Bob got in a jam when a patient rapped on the glass counter. The patient, who was deaf and dumb, did not realize at first that Bob couldn't see and handed him a note calling for ice cream. For several minutes they stood in utter confusion, not being able to think of a means of communication, until another customer arrived and read the note to Bob. Vanilla was served.

Girl Scout daytime campers may be pretty busy learning how to cut firewood and make tin can stoves for outdoor cookery but they are still interested in fashion shows especially if they exhibit something practical for camp. This was indicated yesterday when the Brownies, known for the camping season as "Brown Rabbits," made big sun hats out of poster paper and decorated them with wooden quills and other ornamentation. When their project was completed they staged a style show for the edification of the entire assembly composed of 110 girls.

There are no superstitious members on Jacob Miller's bowling team in Mansfield. Thirteen of the boys on the team are going to use the prize money they won in a bowling contest to see the Cleveland Indians play Sunday, July 13. CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—A 22-year-old waiter was charged with extortion today after police said he admitted he tried to obtain $200 from Dr. Walter B. Phillips under threat of kidnaping the physician's two-week-old daughter.

Detective Albert Mullen said that Seymour Phillips, a waiter who came here four months ago from New York, confessed he wanted the money to leave town because he had quarreled with a girl.

He saw the name of Dr. Phillip's baby in birth notices and decided to try to extort some money. Dr. Phillips received telephone calls Wednesday night at his home demanding the money.

CONGRESSMEN SEE CALL FOR TRANSPORTS

Torpedo Boats Also Needed to Keep Atlantic Sea Lanes Open, Sources Say.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Roosevelt today approved additional defense expenditures by the navy and maritime commission totalling $3,323,000,000 and requested congress to authorize the money as speedily as possible.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Informed legislative sources said today that the navy will soon ask congress for another $4,000,000,000 primarily for transport ships and speedy torpedo boats to step up its job of "keeping Atlantic sealanes open."

These sources declared that administration requests now in the immediate making will total a round $10,000,000,000—the rest of the huge sum to go for increased lease-lend aid to England and for speeding the merchant shipbuilding program.

The predictions came as the house appropriations deficiency sub-committee met to speed passage of an army request for another $4,770,000,000 and as a strong congressional move developed for increased taxes to offset this additional spending.

The army request, already formally transmitted to the house included $3,486,000,000 for ordnance, which legislators said will be used to buy some 10,000 tanks to prepare for a total of 25 hard-hitting armored divisions for the American land forces.

Rep. Woodrum, (D.) Va., chairman of the deficiency group, predicted the appropriation would be approved with a minimum of objection, and said he expected to get the navy and maritime commission requests next week and the lease-lend propsals some time later.

All of these are expected to boost total appropriations for this session of congress to around the $50,000,000,000 mark, and in view of this increased spending Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau hinted that the pending tax bill may have to be revised upward.

In addition to the ordnance item, the new army request included $443,123,275 for clothing and equipment and which legislators said would be used as supplies for increasing the land manpower from 1,400,000 to 1,800,000, and $204,000,000 for the air corps which is expected to be used to start stepping up the 48,000 plane program to 70,000.

Westinghouse Will Build Giant New Plant at Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — (U.P.) — The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company today announced that it will construct a $1,800,000 factory here for manufacture of fluorescent lamp tubing and small glass stems, a new field for Westinghouse.

The announcement, made by Vice President David S. Young-Holm, said the factory will adjoin the new $3,000,000 Westinghouse plant for manufacture of fluorescent lamps, the largest of its kind in the world.

The plant, situated in a 90-acre tract along the Monongahela river, is expected to employ 400 men on its completion next May.

Operations of the Westinghouse company at Bloomfield, N. J., where automobile headlight, flashlight and Christmas tree blubs are made, will be transferred to Fairmont when the new plant is completed.

Homers by Mangan and Moore Give Braves Victory

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Two feminine followers of the Mansfield Braves, who decline to sign their names, write me on sky-blue stationery that I am in their doghouse because I informed them Monday in this column that the Ohio State league all-star game would be a ghost game if the apathy of the fans in casting ballots for the all-star team was an indication of their interest in the tilt.

Now I have too many plush-lined doghouses already, and I decline to move into any new pup tents before I know the operators of these canine mansions.

Yes, gals, you'll have to give me your names and addresses, AND telephone numbers before I'd feel free to add your edifices to my commuting schedule of hound bungalows.

* * *

They say they were in Fremont at the time of the all-star election, and cast their votes there. They could have cast a million here and I'd have been happier.

I still have the two ballots received by this department. Think I'll frame 'em.

The gals also say the've seen more than 20 Braves games this season and have the rain checks to prove it. And that they'd rather see the Braves than a big league game.

Unless I'm barking up the wrong tree (darn this doghouse influence) I'd venture the guess their interest is as much in the ball players as in baseball or the brand of baseball.

Mansfield fans have little complaint to make on the brand of ball the Braves have played in their home bailiwick at that.

Crippled as they've been (they haven't had their regular team on the field once since the season started) the Braves have won 20 games at home and lost only six.

That's championship ball in any league. If they could carry that winning habit to foreign fields they'd make a walk-away of the Ohio State eague.

The letter-writing feminine fans wind up their epistle by saying "the all-star game won't be a ghost walk because we'll be there to keep it alive.

"We hope we see you there."

What is this? A bid for a date? They'll have to do better than hope. Fremont is too long a walk for me.

* * *

I'd like to go to Fremont to play,
But, gosh, gals, what'd my family say?

Yuncker's Blast Red Haw 18-6

Yuncker's Sports softball club went to Red Haw last night and came home with an 18-6 victory dangling from their belts.

Cervinski set the Red Haw club down with six hits while his mates led by Baki and Fogle clipped the home town club for double that number of bingles. Baki connected for two circuit clouts. Fogle sent one out of the lot.

Vessmore sparked the losing batsmen with three out of four.

Bob Feller Wins Own Ball Game

Hits Triple To Score Winning Run In Ninth.

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Bob Feller boosted his batting to .179 and his pitching victories to 17 last night to beat Philadelphia 3 to 2 and monopolize "Bob Feller night."

The 22-year-old fireballer looked like another Babe Ruth as he smote a mighty triple to the center field wall in the ninth inning to come home a moment later on Lou Boudreau's single with the winning tally. Earlier Bob drove in a run with a sharp single.

The triumph, the 99th of his major league career, was the first for the Cleveland star since June 22. He had been knocked out of the box three successive times.

The Feller celebration drew 32,820 fans, including about 4,000 sandlot players who were guests of the club. Bob was presented with a plaque by the city's young athletes and the Sporting News Scroll for being "Player of 1940."

New York's victory in St. Louis kept the Yankees 3½ games in front of the Indians, who renew warfare against the Athletics tomorrow.

Though they can turn out to be duds just as easily as high explosives, there were definite indications that the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Cardinals aren't going to give up the pennant races without a struggle.

At the moment, the battles are just as they were before the all-star contest, with the New York Yankees three and a half games up on Cleveland in the American League, the Brooklyn Dodgers three games to the good over the Cards in the National. But there's the hitch—the pace-setters didn't pick up any ground.

The Yanks, opening a swing through the west, got in five innings last night before it rained in St. Louis. That proved just enough for Joe DiMaggio to run his hitting streak to 49 straight and for Lefty Gomez to blank the Browns, 1-0, on five hits.

In the other circuit the Dodgers also were kept from widening their margin. In one of the program's two afternoon games they tamed the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3, but the Cardinals stuck right on their heels. In a wild-eyed, free-swinging contest that involved five homers and eight pitchers, the Red Birds first ran up on 8-0 lead, saw it disappear in one inning, then came back with five more to blast the New York Giants, 13-9, and end their own five-game losing streak.

The Phillies, winners of but two of their past 14 games, were whipped, 6-3, by the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Chicago Cubs' Vern Olsen came out winner, 3-1, over the Boston Braves' Al Javery, with Javery allowing only six hits to Olsen's seven.

* * *

In the American League the Boston Red Sox were rained out at Detroit. Thus Lefty Grove had to postpone until today his bid for major league victory No. 300.

Kansas City Breaks Association Slump

(By Associated Press)

It took 23-year-old Milo Candini, rookie with an in-and-out record to jerk the fading Kansas City Blues out of their American association slump.

* * *

Young Milo had won only two and lost three decisions until he handcuffed Louisville last night and put the Blues back on the victory path. Louisville collected a total of seven hits, but was helpless when hits meant runs, bowing by a 7 to 0 score.

* * *

Kansas City, shooting for its third straight pennant, now is three games behind Louisville and four behind the leaders.

Minneapolis' scheduled battle with Toledo was rained out and so was the Columbus-St. Paul encounter.

Indianapolis racked up its fourth straight victory with an 8 to 1 edge over cellar-ridden Milwaukee.

BAER-SIMON BOUT BOOKED FOR JULY 21

NEW YORK — (INS) — The Buddy Baer - Abe Simon 15-round battle originally scheduled for next Monday night was re-carded today for July 21.

The Twentieth Century Sporting club announced the postponement on the request of Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, who asked more time for the recent heavyweight challenger to get into condition.

Toledoans In Title Tilt

Home Town Rivals Meet For Women's Golf Crown.

AKRON — (AP) — Neoma Copic, 23-year-old Toledo girl, staked her golfing future on a victory over her home-town rival, Mrs. Linton Fallis, in today's 36-hole finals of the 22nd annual Ohio state women's tournament.

The chunky blond, who took time off from her job as a furnace company invoicer to try for the title, told friends that this probably would be her last tournament—if she loses.

On the basis of earlier play Miss Copic was an overwhelming choice to vanquish her gray-haired rival. But six times in the past she bowed to the veteran.

* * *

The Toledoans eliminated two Daytonians, Mrs. James R. Platt, jr., and the defending champion, Miss Janet Shock, in the semi-finals.

Keeping close to a near-par pace she has maintained since setting foot on the Portage Country club course, Miss Copic stopped Mrs. Platt, medalist and pre-meet favorite, by a 4 and 3 count. Mrs. Fallis, steady and deliberate, dethroned the slim titlist 2 and 1.

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—The name of Billy Conn's movie has been changed from "Kid Tinsel" to "The Pittsburgh Kid" which is more like it. . . . And Billy's opponent will be Jack Roper, the old heavyweight, who is a Hollywood electrician. . . . Pilgrims returning from Detroit say old Bobo Newsom was going around wondering right out loud why he wasn't on the all-star team . . . Is Joe Louis slipping? Well, last Sunday Mike Jacobs long-distanced Chicago and tried to get promotional rights to Booker Beckwith, sensational Negro heavy with a string of 17 straight wins since turning pro. A year ago Mike turned down a chance to take over Beckwith because it would "detract from Louis." The Dan Toppings (you all know who she was) hit town today. Sonja was carrying her ice in platinum, while Dan had the signed contract of Dean McAdams, Washington U's great fullback, in his hip pocket.

THE ANVIL CHORUS.

The baseball writers are having a fine old time second-guessing Bill McKechnie's strategy in letting Claude Passeau pitch the ninth inning of the all-star game. . . . McKechnie said: "I wish I'd had Riddle." Asked why he didn't call on Carl Hubbell, Bill said: "I didn't want to use any old men."

SHORT, SHORT STORIES.

Joe DiMaggio says for his dough Bucky Walters was the best elbower he looked at in the all-star game . . . Tommy Farr, due here soon, may be sent against Billy Conn at Washington. . . . If the Cubs ever get around to waiving on Johnny Rizzo, the Phils will ship him to Brooklyn for Blimp Phelps in a straight waiver exchange. . . . Texas fans, some of whom drove 400 miles to see the bums, are blasting Tony Galento for running out on King Levinsky. If you'll pardon us for horning in, the cowboys should have known better. . . . A golfer on the Kissena park course here became so disgusted with his game he presented his caddy with a $100 set of clubs and stomped off, talking to himself.

Liberties to Battle Lucas

Expect Big Crowd In Bleacher Raising Tilt.

Liberty Park ball club expects the largest crowd of the season thus far Sunday when they meet Lucas on the Liberty diamond at 2:30 p. m.

The Liberties have two reasons for expecting a crowd. The Lucas club promises to give them a good ball game, and a drive is on at Liberty Park to raise money to erect bleachers for the ball park.

Lumber for the bleachers already has been purchased, and proceeds from the Lucas game will go toward supplying the manpower to put the seats in position.

Two weeks ago the Liberties and Lucas were rained out at Lucas with the Mansfield team leading 3 to 2 in the third inning.

Ralph Hazlett or Red Bender will be on the hill for the Liberties, and either Oswald or Stenson will do the hurling for Lucas, who recently lost their star southpaw, Merl Dieal, in the draft.

* * *

The Liberties have won four games and lost three and are determined to stay above the .500 mark.

SHOOT PLANNED

The Goat Hill Gun club will hold a shoot at the range on the Woodville road, two miles southeast of Mansfield Sunday at 1 p. m.

CLEVELAND RAMS OPEN AT AKRON

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — The Cleveland Rams professional football team will open their National league schedule next fall in Akron's Rubber Bowl.

Because the Municipal stadium and League park were not available on Sept. 7, the Ram-Pittsburgh game scheduled for that date in Cleveland has been shifted to Akron, club officials said today.

Pay-to-Play Golfers Start

Thelma Linster Picked as Women's Favorite.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's pay-as-you-play golfers warmed up for the Saturday-Sunday state championship grind with an amateur-amateur tournament at the Dublin-Arlington course today.

About 40 two-man teams were lined up for the 18-hole event which sets the stage for the 72-hole men's and 36-hole women's tournaments to select the state's public links stars.

Almost with the crack of dawn Saturday, play will get under way for men on the Dublin-Arlington course in an effort to get all the players through the 36-hole first day schedule before dark. From 150 to 175 entries are anticipated.

Defending Champion Barney Hunt of Columbus, whose mother died Wednesday, probably won't play.

Advance dope on the state tournament indicated that Val Chievini of Toledo, Henry Pabian of Steubenville and Joe Mayer of Mansfield wil be three leading contenders for Hunt's crown. Mayer fired a 72-par practice round this week.

The 18 best men golfers in the public links event will be eligible to compete for the Ohio amateur championship at Toledo next week.

* * *

The defending women's champion, Mrs. Thelma Linster of Mansfield, also has been shooting good golf and will be the one about 60 other women have to beat over the Twin River's layout.

DON M'NEILL MEETS CINCINNATI STAR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(U.P.)— National Champion Don McNeill, Gambier, O., meets fourth seeded Billy Talbert, Cincinnati, O., in semi-finals of the Western Tennis tournament today.

Defending Champion Bobby Riggs, Clinton, S. C., seeded second behind McNeill, plays third-seeded Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., in the other semi-final match tomorrow.

Defeat Findlay 4 to 1 With Byers Hurling

Patterson Draws Assignment Of Making It 3 Wins In a Row

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the Ohio State league's second-half season the Mansfield Braves today had hopes of being in the process of compiling a winning streak.

Behind Chuck Byers' clutch pitching they downed Grover Hartley's Oilers at Findlay last night 4 to 1 for their second straight win, and they depended on Patterson to make it three in a row tonight when the Oilers come to the Fairground park for a ladies' night performance.

The Oilers hit Byers rather freely, but their nine blows included only one extra-base clout, a double by Brenner, and Chuck managed to keep the bingles well scattered.

Mansfield garnered but eight hits off big Jack Griffore, but two of those were circuit smacks by Tim Mangan, his second of the season, and by Gaf Moore, his second in two nights and his fourth of the campaign.

And it takes but little mathematical research to arrive at the conclusion that two home runs were all that Byers needed for victory. In his last 18 innings Chuck has allowed but one run.

Findlay took the early lead, scoring its lone marker in the second, but the Braves tied it up in the fourth on Mangan's circuit clout over the right field fence.

Then came the winning two-run rally for the Braves in the fifth, as Harry Siegbert strolled and Moore clouted his homer over the left field wall.

Byers drove in the fourth run for the Braves in the seventh plating Bill Reinka from second on a single, after Reinka had drawn a life on Hommer's error in left.

Dick Morse was the only Brave to get two hits off Griffore, but every other Tribesman hit safely except Bob Ankrum and Siegbert.

Byers fanned eight Oilers and gave up five bases on balls, while Griffore whiffed nine Braves and allowed but three walks.

Women will be admitted for 10 cents at tonight's game at the Fairground.

Young Golf Stars Seen As Threats

Ohio Amateur Tourney Has Kid Dark-Horses.

TOLEDO — (U.P.) — Watch the "youngsters" for a possible dark-horse winner in the Ohio Amateur Golf tournament which opens Tuesday over the Toledo Inverness Country Club course.

A sizeable brigade of teen-age par breakers will open fire over the Inverness layout in quest of the title won the last years by the Dayton Ace, Bob Servis.

The four-time tourney winner from Dayton has not definitely thrown his hat in the ring for this year's competition since he is not sure he can break away from his restaurant business in the Gem city.

Maurice J. McCarthy, Cincinnati veteran who has won the state crown three times, would like to enter but says that his business ties may prevent him from making the trip.

Heading the juvenile bid to capture the state simon-pure championship is 17-year-old Frankie Stranahan of Toledo who will be competing on his home course.

The young Inverness star has added two important titles to his collections in the last six weeks—the Trans-Mississippi crown and the Arizona state championship.

Another 17-year-old threat is Bobby Campbell of Granville, who reached the semi-finals last year. Pete Sohl of Columbus, 17, state interscholastic champion from Upper Arlington, and Dick Barr, 18-year-old Ohio junior runner-up from Columbus, are two more youngsters who may cause trouble.

Two collegiate threats are Marshall Carlsin of Toledo university and Danny Carmichael, jr Columbus boy who was graduated from Princeton last month.

Carlson, semi-finalist in the national collegiates and Ohio conference champion, lost in the title match last year by a 3 and 2 score to Servis Carlson also will be playing on his home course.

Carmichael, who has rearched the quarter-finals of the state meet four times and has qualified for the national amateur for the last four years, was eliminated in the semi-finals this year of the national collegiate tourney.

Billy Gilbert of Cincinnati, 1940 western conference champion from Ohio State, will probably be one of the players shooting for a berth in Tuesday's 18-hole qualifying round.

Other players likely to compete include: Tom Whiteway, Cleveland district champion; Carlin Short, Akron district winner; and Joe Wells, jr., of East Liverpool. A pro-amateur tourney will be held Monday.

Hogan, Nelson Swap Strokes

Meet In Top Quarter-Final Match of P. G. A.

By RUSS NEWLAND

DENVER, Col.—(AP)—A couple of ex-Texas caddies—rivals since Ft. Worth schoolboy days—squared off today in the "main event" of the quarter-final matches of the 1941 National Professional Golfers association championship.

ron Nelson against "golfer of the year" Benny Hogan over 36 holes and take your pick. There was little to choose between the two.

* * *

Hogan, 138 pounds of dynamite, had an edge over his bulkier rival in long shots from the tee but Nelson matched this as the greatest iron hitter in the game.

* * *

Pre-tournament favorite as the result of blazing practice sessions, Hogan reached the quarter-finals with a 2 and 1 win over Horton Smith in yesterday's 36-hole third round. Nelson came through with a 4 and 3 victory over Ralph Guldahl, a two time former U. S. Open titlist.

Montague Shoots Par Golf With Bat and Shovel

Remember a few years back when a "Mysterious" John Montague, Hollywood golfer, drew the headlines by his exploits on the links, using most any kind of garden tool or ball club to beat par? Well, Monty is still at it and during a recent visit to Chicago he shot a 73, just two over par, on the Elmhurst Country club course—using a ball bat, left; a shovel, center, a handle, right.

OLD SPOKE ENTERS CHICAGO TOURNEY

CHICAGO—(INS)—Along with most of the golfing greats, Tris Speaker, the former "Gray Eagle" of baseball, has entered the fourth $5,000 Chicago Open golf tournament to start July 16 at the Elmhurst Country club.

Speaker, however, sent in his entry with notation that he will play "if I don't go fishing instead." If he makes it, he will play alongside a former tennis great, Ellsworth Vines, who also entered.

Veteran Mancuso Steadies Young Card Hurling Staff

GUS MANCUSO

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Gus Mancuso, the veteran National league catcher, got more than he bargained for with the Cardinals this year.

Like the rider who started out in the saddle and ended up carrying the horse, the 36-year-old backstop began the season primarily as an instructor for young batterymen but became the hero of the Redbirds' pennant drive.

He was catching only the rookie pitchers. But when Walker Cooper broke a shoulder early in the season Gus stepped in as the regular catcher. Week after week he caught every day, sometimes twice a day.

Later Don Padgett was hospitalized and Gus was the only catcher on the squad.

Getting Old? Ha!

"Now where are those guys who said I was getting too old to play baseball," says Gus and laughs. "I could catch every day. I love it. But I will be glad when Cooper gets back into the game. He is a fine young prospect and needs the experience—and we'll need him in the World Series."

Although Gus doesn't hit the ball as often or as far as he used to, he still is a dangerous batter in a pinch.

Mancuso's greatest achievement, of course, has been his magnificent handling of young pitchers. Their success saved the Cards this year—and may win them the pennant.

Mancuso's steadying influence and stabilizing effect behind the platter can not be overlooked.

He chatters encouragement to the youngsters constantly. If one gets in a hole Gus calmly walks out to the mound, puts an arm around him and says:

"You're all right, kid. Now, take a deep breath and let's make a clown out of this guy."

One day bespectacled Sam Nahem was in such a spot. The bases were loaded with only one down. Gus went out and whispered a few magic words in his ear. Six of the next eight pitches were strikes and the side was retired.

Sees Pennant Triumph.

The big catcher is an inspiration to other players, too.

Mancuso believes the Cards will win the pennant if the injury jinx doesn't hang over them too long.

"If we don't win out we're the team they'll have to beat," he said with the pride of a manager.

He thinks the Cards have two of the best young pitchers in the National league in Max Lanier and Ernie White. White won six of his first seven games and Lanier won six of his first nine starts.

Riflemen Gather for Small-Bore Tourney

MT. GILEAD —(AP)— Approximately 200 riflemen from five states will begin firing tomorrow morning in the small-bore tournament of the National Rifle association north-cental region and the Ohio Rifle & Pistol association.

Entries have been received from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and western Pennsylvania, and some of the country's top - ranking marksmen will compete.

Frank Worthen of Akron, who won the regional and state championships last year, has entered the army and will not defend his titles. The contenders include A. C. Berg of Lorain and Helen Jenkins of Columbus.

SOOSE BOOKED

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Billy Soose, making his first ring appearance since he defeated Ken Overlin for the middleweight title on May 9, will meet Tony Celli of New York in an overweight 10-round attraction tonight at suburban Sportsman park.

Ivory Search Gets Tougher

Dodger Scout Defends Signing of Youngsters.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—The ivory search gets tougher and tougher, according to Tom Downey, veteran talent scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers

"You can't overlook anything these days," Downy opined today, declaring at the same time he was getting runover heels galloping from "minor leagues to colleges, semi-pros, American legions and peaking behind sand lot billboards."

Downey said he is giving the college teams of the Pacific Northwest close attention.

He protested against school boy "kidnaping" charges tossed at big league scouts.

"We don't take any boys until they are through school," he said. "But let me tell you something, there's a lot of hooey about taking a boy out of college. A lad will make up his mind to quit school; he does quit, wants a baseball job, and a scout signs him after the boy says he's away from the books and blackboards.

"Then a bowl goes up, and the scout gets a lot of blame for taking a nice boy away from the campus. If he quits, why he quits, doesn't he?"

Anyway, Downey wants a lot of "bright young fellows" to keep Brooklyn's 14 baseball farms stocked with promising talent.

Pat Comiskey Fools Scribe

But Expert's Still In There Backing Puncher.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The postman handed over an envelope on the inside of which was a communique from the boxing front, to wit: "Patrick Edward Comiskey has been matched to fight Henry Cooper on July 22."

Patrick Edward Comiskey! What memories that name stirs! Memories of a clean-limbed young giant standing six feet, four inches tall and throwing a murderous right hand. Memories of him knocking out bum after bum, and memories of a deathless piece of prose written in 1939 by my favorite author, whose initials are H. F.:

"The best looking heavyweight prospect right now is Patrick Edward Comiskey, a killer-diller puncher from Paterson, N. J. Don't be surprised if he fights Joe Louis for the title in the late summer or fall of 1941."

That prediction was the start of a streak that for a time threatened to make me the Joe DiMaggio of sports writing. They couldn't stop me. Time after time, in uncanny fashion, I came up with the loser.

The streak came to an end on Christmas Eve, 1939, when I announced there wasn't any Santa Claus, but I continued to follow the fortunes of Patrick Edward Comiskey.

That is, I followed his fortunes until one evening in Jersey City about a year ago when he went into the ring against Max Baer. Here was his chance to get the shot at Louis. All he had to do was to come out of his corner, throw that terrific right and knock Baer over the middle rope. A right was thrown, all right, but there was a slight change in plans and Baer was the guy who threw it. Comiskey caught it with a grace and ease that drew murmurs of admiration from two major league baseball scouts seeking a good catcher. Comiskey was counted out and every time the referee counted I handed a dollar bill to a man sitting next to me who had been silly enough to bet on Baer.

Then Comiskey dropped out of sight for a while. Somebody said he was planning to retire from the ring, but that turned out to be untrue. Month after month I inquired about his whereabouts.

But now he is back and all is forgiven. Watch him knock the brains out of Henry Cooper on July 22. The guy can't miss and along about 1943 he will be fighting Joe Louis for the title.

GETS GLASSES

Vernon Lefty McGooferty Gomez, veteran New York Yankee pitcher, may don spectacles soon. Occulists recently examined Gomez and told him his wildness on the mound may be due to faulty vision.

THEATERS

Technicolor Western.

Six-shooters roar in "Billy the Kid," technicolor action film opening Saturday at the Ohio with Robert Taylor in the role of one of the west's most colorful figures. The story concerns the exploits and fate of a terror of the range during the cattle wars of the 1870's. He enters the picture with the reputation of a killer but after joining up with Dan Hickey's gang swings over to the more lawful forces of Eric Keating, an English rancher. Brian Donlevy, Mary Howard, Ian Hunter and Lon Chaney, jr., are in the cast.

G-Man Drama.

A dramatic prison break, a gun battle in a basement hide-out and a fight in a crowded dance hall provide a thrilling story of a G-man's adventure in "The Get-Away," opening Sunday at the Madison. Robert Sterling plays the G-man on the trail of a gang sought for terrorizing middle west defense industries. Romance and comedy are both injected into the film by Donna Reed, a newcomer, as Sterling's heart interest, and Charles Winninger as an inebriated gang doctor who leads Sterling to the hide-out. "One Night in Lisbon," with Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll is the companion feature.

Lively Farce.

Built along farcial lines, "The Man Who Lost Himself," showing at the Ritz, presents Brian Aherne and Kay Francis in the starring roles of a picture based on Stacpoole's famous novel by the same name. Aherne plays a dual role, Evans a sober business man, and Scott, an eccentric rounder who committs suicide but not until he has installed Evans, who looks remarkably like him, in his own home. Nils Asther and Dorothy Tree are in the supporting cast. "Riders From Nowhere," with Jack Randall and Margaret Roach is the second picture.

Comedy Drama.

Robert Montgomery has a problem on his hands in "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," marital comedy showing at the Park, when Carole Lombard as his wife, becomes interested in Gene Raymond at a crucial moment. The crucial moment was caused by an error in a land survey that revealed the couple's marriage of three years as illegal and left them free to marry whomever they choose. Lucille Watson, Philip Merivale and Jack Carson are among the players. Tex Ritter in "Rollin' Home to Texas," is the second attraction.

Mystery Comedy.

Giving a total stranger a plane lift from London to Paris is dangerous business Rex Harrison learns in "Missing Ten Days," mystery-comedy playing at the Majestic. Waking up in a Paris hospital he finds himself a victim of amnesia and an accredited member of a spy ring. He is also mistaken for the chauffeur of a lovely young Frenchwoman. Karen Verne plays opposite Harrison and the cast includes Joan Marion and Joan Abbott. "A Dangerous Game," the co-attraction, features Richard Arlen and Andy Devine as a pair of detectives out to solve a double killing.

300 Get Check-Up at Clinic

Close to 300 Richland county mothers and children received free physical examinations and complete eye and dental checkups at the medical clinic at Mansfield General hospital under the sponsorship of the Richland County Medical society. The clinic ended today. Physicians and nurses gave their service gratis to the project which was financed by the Aid of Dependent Children division, Department of Public Welfare. A 13-year-old "patient" is shown in the above picture receiving dental attention from Dr. C. W. Frickman.

EXAMS SET

Fifty company members will be chosen from a group of 69 applicants for guard membership. Bierly said the company drills are "progressing satisfactorily" and he is "well pleased with the group."

Many Stocks Up In Early Dealings on Wall Street Market Today.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Rising tendencies appeared in most parts of today's stock market although there were exceptions.

Bid up in early dealings were U. S. Steel, Anaconda, American Smelting, International Harvester and Westinghouse.

Douglas Aircraft, Union Carbide and American Telephone inclined to backwardness.

Those watching steel shares for market clues studied the compilation of the American Iron & Steel Institute which disclosed that, due to the spur of the defense program, output of the metal in the first six months of the current year amounted to nearly 41,000,000 net tons. This was within 20 per cent of the entire production for 1917, peak year of the World war.

Financial offices found encouragement in the Dun & Bradstreet survey stressing the brisk expansion in public spending throughout the nation.

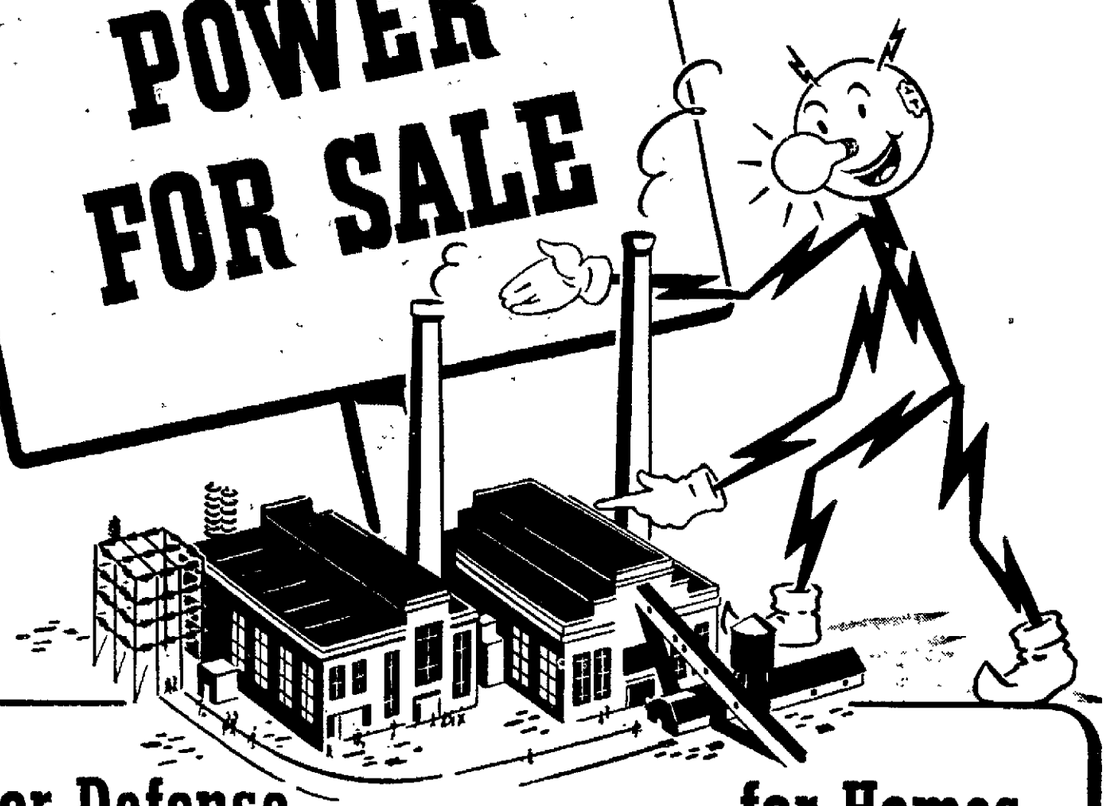
POWER FOR SALE



for Defense . . . . . for Homes

ALL YOU WANT...WHEN YOU WANT IT

From the four large generating plants of The Ohio Public Service Company and our inter-connections is coming a huge, steady stream of electric power . . . considerably more than we have ever been called upon to deliver.

Never has our Company been called upon for more electric power than we could provide. Because of new generating capacity that is going on our lines we always expect to have a large surplus capacity that will make it possible to meet every requirement of industry . . . defense and otherwise . . . and your home. It is an unusual characteristic of the electric power business that, because of the fact that electric power cannot be stored efficiently for future use by industry or home, we always have and always expect to have considerably more electric power available than we will ever be called upon to deliver. That is why we say we have power for sale, because in the communities served by The Ohio Public Service Company we not only now have sufficient power for all demands being made on us by industry and homes, but we have a considerable excess of capacity ready to operate all of your present electrical time and labor-saving appliances and any that you may wish to add in the future.
